HEAVY DAMAGE IN SANTA BARBARA QUAKE!

Big Buildings Wrecked! Many Fires Break Out!

HOTELS, CHURCHES AND THEATRES RUINED!

RUSH AID BY AIR, TRAIN, WATER TO QUAKE ZONE

Thousands of Automobiles Clog Roads In Attempt to Reach Stricken People; Red Cross Directing Relief

By International News Service

Climaxing a series of earth disturbances which have shaken western America during the past forty-eight hours, California from San Luis Obispo, midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles, to points south of Los Angeles, were shaken by an earthquake today which centered in the city of Santa Barbara and surrounding territory, resulting in partial destruction of that city and possible large loss of life.

A report received in San Francisco by the Southern Pacific stated that twenty-seven had been killed by the quake, which leveled hotels, broke water mains and started a fire, according to eye-witnesses brought to Ventura, raging in one section of the stricken city.

City Playground for Millionaires

Santa Barbara, one of the California playgrounds of the wealthy, is the seat of homes of hundreds of wealthy families. The suburb of Montecito is known as the home of millionaires. No definite word has been received as yet as to the destruction wrought in this section. Assistance to the stricken communities was being rushed this afternoon by air, land and sea.

Santa Barbara, California, is a city of 75,000 population. It is located at the edge of the Pacific ocean, ninety miles from Los Angeles.

Severe earth shocks were felt here twenty years ago, tremors at that time continuing for days.

Rush Aid by Trains and Airplanes

Tugs from Los Angeles carrying radio sets to re-establish communication also carried relief supplies. The Red Cross at San Francisco was arranging to send doctors by airplane. Trains were rushing to the scene and thousands of automobiles were clogging the coast highway, both north and south of Santa Barbara, in an effort to reach the quake zone.

Reports agreed that the casualties occurred mostly when the walls of buildings fell.

The Carrillo hotel, reported destroyed, is one of the newest hotel buildings in Santa Barbara and catered to high class trade there.

The Arlington, mentioned in reports as badly damaged, was one of the most fashionable hostelries in the southland.

It was the gathering place of society and wealth. Built low and rambling through beautiful gardens, it was famous for its architectural beauty.

Oil Tanks, Reservoirs, Mains Break

Water dams, oil tanks and water mains were all reported to have collapsed in and around Santa Barbara.

The Southern Pacific railroad was unable to indicate just how much damage had been done its lines. Their roundhouse was reported to have collapsed and their tracks to have been put out of commission both north and south of Santa Barbara.

Through trains were routed around the scene of the quake, going by the San Joaquin valley lines, but feeler trains were traveling slowly each way to re-establish rail traffic as close as possible to Santa Barbara.

Reports as to loss of life were conflicting. One received over the wires of the Associated Oil Co. said rumor placed the loss from seven to thirty-five.

The earthquake which was felt in Los Angeles and southern cities was comparatively light there and caused no reported damage.

It was felt across the mountains in the San Joaquin valley, but caused no damage there.

The disturbance was the most severe ever recorded on the seismograph of the University of California at Berkeley.

Oil Tanks Collapse, Flood District! Huge Landslides!

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—The city of Santa Barbara was partially wrecked by earth shocks today.

Reports received here by the Southern Pacific Railway Co. said State street, the principal street of the city, was demolished. Scores of buildings were partially shaken down.

The railroad station at Goleta was wrecked and other damage done at points near Santa Barbara.

The railroad tracks at Naples were badly twisted.

Oil tanks at Summerland were wrecked and oil flooded the district. Roads north of Carpenteria were blocked by landslides.

Severe shocks were felt between

Latest Report Cuts Down Earlier Estimates On Dead In Earthquake

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—Santa Barbara, 100 miles north of Los Angeles, was hard hit by an event early today which was felt generally throughout Southern California.

For five hours after the first shock, which occurred at 6:45 a. m., communication with Santa Barbara was cut off, and there were wildly exaggerated reports of loss of life and great damage.

First direct communication with the city, established shortly after noon, showed that but eight persons were dead.

Many were reported missing and several hundred were injured, the large majority of them being only slightly hurt.

A man named James Hazard, of Santa Barbara, was crushed to death when a wall fell on him, while he was seated in his automobile.

Mrs. C. E. Pickins, widow of a former president of the Burlington & Iowa railroad, was reported to have been buried in the ruins when the east wing of the Arlington hotel was wrecked.

A Dr. Angel, with offices in the San Marcos building, was reported to have been buried and killed in the wreckage of the building.

The buildings which were wrecked by the quake were the new California hotel, the Potter theatre, the Pacific Southwest bank, the First National bank, the San Marcos building, the Unitarian church, and the Church of Our Lady of Sorrows.

While the quake was felt in Los Angeles and vicinity, there was no damage. Santa Barbara was the only place which suffered by the tremors.

First reports that the Gibraltar dam had broken were found later to be untrue. The Sheffield reservoir was broken, however, and water poured into the streets. Broken water mains added to the flood.

There were no fires.

Property damage was estimated at $2,000,000, the heaviest damage being along State street, the main thoroughfare of the city. The sea wall along the water front, built several years ago at a cost of $400,000, was cracked.

Soldiers in Charge

Military law was proclaimed, and details of ex-service men and militia patrolled the streets.

Because of mild tremors occurring at intervals following the first quake, no attempts were made to excavate in the damaged buildings.

Gas, electric light and electric power were turned off to prevent fires.

The towers of the historic old Santa Barbara Mission fell during the quake but the remainder of the building stood.

Patients at the St. Francis hospital were safely removed and were adequately cared for.

Slight Shocks Felt At Hanford For Few Seconds

HANFORD, June 29.—A slight earthquake was felt in this city, located in the heart of the San Joaquin valley, at 6:42 o'clock this morning. No damage was done. The earth trembling lasted only a few seconds. Reports from the west and southwest of here are that the shocks were somewhat more severe as they approached the coast range. The

THRILLING STORY BY NEWS WRITER ON AIR JOURNEY

Gil A. Cowan Flies Over Santa Barbara And Writes Description of Damage Caused by Severe Earthquake

Desirous of getting accurate information concerning the Santa Barbara disaster, The Glendale Evening News early this morning sent Gil A. Cowan, a member of the editorial staff, to the stricken city in an aeroplane piloted by Bob Starkey, 914 South Glendale avenue. They left the Glendale Airport, circled over Santa Barbara, and landed at Ventura. Cowan's story, telephoned from Ventura, follows:

By GIL A. COWAN
Of The Evening News Staff.

SANTA BARBARA, June 29.—Death and destruction in the path of the Southland's most disastrous earthquake is most forcibly visible from the sky today. Below us, as we flew over the stricken area, could be seen buildings that had been flattened by the tremor as though they had been constructed of paper.

From the cockpit of Bob Starkey's Kinner Airster, in which we made the trip from Glendale over the mountains and sea to the earthquake zone, I could look down upon the disaster that vsiited Santa Barbara early this morning.

Property Loss May Reach $20,000,000

Many of Santa Barbara's finest buildings crumpled like eggshells. Schools and churches, business blocks, hotels, numerous buildings along upper State street bore the brunt of the series of shocks. They were mostly buildings of new construction, and their walls were tossed into the middle of the street.

The property damage in Santa Barbara alone, as viewed from the air, will run close to $10,000,000, while the damage in the earthquake district, which surrounds Santa Barbara, will reach approximately $20,000,000.

Noted Hotels Wrecked, One Split Open

The Arlington hotel, located at the upper end of State street, was not only shaken by the earthquake, but was gutted by fire, and it is here that perhaps the greatest loss of lives occurred.

The Carrillo hotel, four or five blocks closer to the ocean than the Arlingto nhotel, was rent asunder. The Carrillo hotel is fireproof, and, due to this fact, many lives were saved. From the plane it looked as though some monstrous giant of mythical days had taken a huge axe and split the Carrillo hotel, much as one would split a block of kindling wood.

San Marcos Building Badly Wrecked

The San Marcos office building, standing on a corner, has the appearance of having been wrecked by an explosion occurring within its walls, but it was the quake that leveled this structure. The two walls that border the streets toppled outward, falling into the streets.

Oil tanks owned by the Southern Pacific gave way and flooded the tracks. Rails along the Southern Pacific right-of-way leading into the city from both directions are twisted and torn and relief trains are creeping along at a very slow rate to avoid wreckage by spreading rails.

Dotting the stricken area could be seen from our plane small tents from which fly the Red Cross flag, so we knew the work of mercy was already under way. Relief trains flying the Red Cross flag are wending their way slowly into Santa Barbara.

Schools and churches in the upper part of the city, and particularly those built on the hillsides, were damaged.

One of the queer pranks of the quake was the fact that the older section of the city, that portion of Santa Barbara which lies near-

Principal Structures Badly Damaged! Hotels Wrecked!

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Twenty-seven people were killed in a violent earthquake that partially destroyed Santa Barbara this morning, according to word received by Southern Pacific headquarters here. The principal buildings on State street, the main business thoroughfare, are said to have been demolished. The famous Arlington hotel is reported in ruins. The California hotel is also said to be a mass of wreckage.

Santa Barbara's historic mission, according to the Southern Pacific advices, is a pile of debris. The Cabrillo house was torn in two by the force of the shock.

The earthquake started at 6:43 a. m. and the terrific first shock lasted one full minute.

A relief train over the Southern Pacific left Los Angeles for Santa Barbara at 9:30 a. m. with physicians, nurses, medical and food supplies.

Rumors reaching this city over wires of the Associated Oil company, which reach as far south as Gaviota, north of Santa Barbara, said from seven to thirty-five were dead at Santa Barbara. There was no estimates on the injured.

A report reached the Southern Pacific that the roof of their round house at Santa Barbara had fallen in and that several were caught in the fall.

STATE'S CHIEF EXECUTIVE IN QUAKE DISTRICT

Left Los Gatos Yesterday En Route For Channel City To Deliver Address

SACRAMENTO, June 29.—Governor Richardson left Los Gatos yesterday, en route to Santa Barbara, where he was scheduled to deliver an address, it was announced by the governor's office here today, following receipt of word that an earthquake had destroyed the southern city.

It was believed the governor intended to stop over in San Luis Obispo. No word had been received from him.

Los Angeles Offers Assistance And Nurses

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—On behalf of the people of Los Angeles, Mayor Cryer directed a message to be sent to the mayor of the city of Santa Barbara offering every possible aid and assistance which the city of Los Angeles may be able to extend to its sister city. The message was carried to Santa Barbara by an airplane which hopped off shortly before noon.

It was announced in the mayor's office that Health Commissioner George Parrish secured the services of all possible trained nurses and doctors, who left on a specially organized relief train at 11:30 a. m. In addition to the nurses and doctors, surgical and medical supplies will be carried by train as a contribution of the city of Los Angeles.

Southern Californians were urged by the city officials here today to restrain their curiosity and not attempt to visit Santa Barbara. The authorities desire to keep the roads leading to and from Santa Barbara as free from unnecessary traffic as is possible in order to expedite the movement of relief traffic, it was stated.

Special Relief Trains Rushed To Quake Center

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—A special relief train for Santa Barbara left Los Angeles at 11:30 o'clock, according to an announcement at noon here today by Paul Shoup, vice-president of the Southern Pacific. The train, consisting of seven cars, contained 100 cots, Red Cross and food supplies and a contingent of fifteen doctors and nurses.

At 11 o'clock a special water train made up of nine water cars left Oxnard for Santa Barbara, Shoup announced. Six more water cars will be sent early this afternoon. Repair and work trains are on the way to the stricken area to attempt to reopen communication.

According to reports the earthquake was undoubtedly due to what is known as a dead fault running from a point north of Naples, which is eighteen miles north of Santa Barbara, to a point south of Santa Barbara on the Pacific ocean.

Five Shocks Felt In Ventura County Today

SANTA PAULA, June 29.—Earth tremors rocked Santa Paula, Oxnard and Ventura this morning. Five shocks, starting at 6:44 o'clock were felt. The last shock was felt at 7:50 o'clock. Several buildings were reported to have cracked walls as a result of the tremors, but there was no other damage. The shocks were felt generally throughout Ventura county, according to reports here.

PRACTICALLY ALL STRUCTURES IN CITY DAMAGED

Water Mains Collapse, Reservoir Menaces District; Banks, Theatres and Other Buildings Reported In Ruins

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Following is a summary of the latest reports received this afternoon by the Southern Pacific from Santa Barbara:

Part of the Arlington hotel down, seven killed.

California hotel, a brand new structure, opened last week, down.

Potter theatre down.

Pacific Southwest bank down.

First National bank down.

San Marcos building down.

Large garage down, two killed.

There is no gas nor electricity.

The Southern Pacific is running water trains from Carpinteria, nearby. All water mains in Santa Barbara are broken.

The parochial school reported down.

Every Building Suffers Some Loss

Every building in the city has been damaged to some extent, such as broken chimneys, wrecked walls, etc.

Southern Pacific roundhouse roof is reported fallen in, one engine completely covered.

Heavy shakes continued to be felt every five or ten minutes after the first shock at 6:45 o'clock this morning. The later shocks are doing no damage.

Every building on State street, Santa Barbara's main business street, reported damaged more or less.

Following buildings are reported entirely destroyed, collapsed or otherwise badly damaged:

Numerous Fires Raging In City

City library, city jail, county courthouse, Episcopal, Baptist and Methodist churches.

It is reported that the city reservoir threatens to give way any minute, if it has not already done so.

Electric supply cut off. Telephone and telegraph service crippled.

Numerous fires reported in the stricken city.

Fire-fighters seriously handicapped because reports of blazes reach them badly delayed, there is little water available and debris makes fire-fighting progress difficult.

The buildings reported destroyed range from the ancient adobe constructed mission to the most modern steel and concrete structures. Every type of construction appeared to have suffered, according to meager reports received. Most of the Santa Barbara buildings are of mission type architecture.

Santa Barbara Dentist and Wife In City, Escape Quake

Dr. E. H. Lyman, well-known dentist of Santa Barbara, with offices in the San Marcos building, destroyed in the early morning earthquake disaster this morning, and Mrs. Lyman, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Parker of 221 North Central avenue. They motored south yesterday. Dr. Lyman is planning to attend the dental convention in Los Angeles. They heard the first news of the tragedy from The Glendale Evening News and immediately began measures to get in touch with Santa Barbara.

Dr. J. J. Dickover, another Santa Barbara dentist, is the father of Mrs. A. L. Ferguson of 525 North Jackson street, who was also informed of the tragedy by The Glendale Evening News. Dr. and Mrs. Dickover had planned to motor to Glendale yesterday but had changed their minds at the last minute. Mrs. Ferguson is well acquainted with Santa Barbara, formerly her home city, and was shocked to hear of the damage done by the quake. The Fergusons were anticipating leaving Wednesday for a motor trip to Vancouver, and planned to stop at Santa Barbara. Their plans will depend on word they receive from Dr. and Mrs. Dickover.

Mrs. Ferguson states that Santa Barbara suffered such serious earthquakes years ago that it was necessary to prop up the walls of the old mission to preserve them. However, in recent years, no temblors disturbed residents and visitors in the resort city.

Telephone Office At Santa Barbara Wrecked

The Glendale Evening News, in communication with E. H. Sampson, wire chief of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., was informed that telephone communication with Santa Barbara has been cut off by the earthquake. The local office has received a report that the telephone building in Santa Barbara was wrecked.

"The telephone company there is an independent concern known as the Santa Barbara Telephone Co.," said Sampson. "It is not a subsidiary of our company. A small fire occurred in their office a few months ago and we sent them a few men and some equipment, but it was as a friendly act and not because of any relationship between the two companies. We ordinarily have long distance connection with them."

41 SHOCKS HIT STATE OF MONTANA

$600,000 Loss As Temblors Continue Over 36-Hour Terror Period

By HARRY TOOHILL
For Southland News Service.
Special to The Evening News.

BUTTE, Mont., June 29.—After passing through another night laden with terror and recurring earth shocks, residents in practically every city in western and central Montana were today recovering from near panic. Forty-one distinct tremors have been registered in Montana since the first quake at 6:23 o'clock Saturday night, according to reports up to 8 o'clock this morning.

Work of estimating damage done by temblors in the stricken districts has begun and property destroyed was listed at over $600,000 this morning, with reports still coming in from isolated communities.

The Gallatin valley, east of the continental divide, was the hardest hit section, it was revealed. Three Forks and its neighboring town of Manhattan today faced the task of rebuilding business districts which were practically destroyed. A crevice in the earth, appearing at irregular intervals, opened from Three Forks to Manhattan, the width of the crack varying from two to four inches over a distance of ten miles. This fissure jarred loose practically every foundation of brick business structures and public buildings.

Every House Cracked

Schoolhouses at Manhattan and Three Forks were both destroyed, while a church, two garages and two bank buildings in the latter city were also badly wrecked. Every residence in both towns was damaged more or less.

It was only at dawn today that citizens of either town would venture back into their dwellings, a severe electrical storm raging throughout the night and barely perceptible tremors continuing at intervals less than an hour apart.

Two hundred miles west from Three Forks at a summer resort flames followed the last series of quakes and a thirty-room hotel was destroyed. Although no deaths have been reported from any section as yet, four persons were injured, a state-wide summary shows. All are expected to recover.

$100,000 Courthouse Down

At White Sulphur Springs, sixty miles from Three Forks, the courthouse erected this year at a cost of $100,000 was demolished. Damage to cities other than those located in the center of the disturbance was confined to cracked masonry and brickwork and shattered windows.

In Madison county an automobile proceeding up a steep hill, during one of the spasms of Mother Earth, was caught in the oscillatory waves and carried over an embankment. The machine's two occupants were hurt.

Send Rescue Crews

Railroads today are organizing forces to repair damages to their lines. Passengers on one Northern Pacific local train and transcontinental tourists on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, having spent thirty-six sleepless hours, trapped between two landslides outside of Three Forks. Rescue parties are bringing in the marooned travelers, neither train being able to move, as slides have occurred both to the front and rear.

Milwaukee rail line officials today estimated it would take thirty days to clear and repair their tracks. The Northern Pacific will have traffic moving in the next few hours.

Bulletins on Santa Barbara Quake Posted

Detailed information concerning the disastrous earthquake at Santa Barbara, which did thousands of dollars' worth of damage and took an unknown toll of lives, was given Glendalians today by The Glendale Evening News in bulletin form as fast as received from the stricken city. These bulletins were posted on the Brand boulevard windows, while hundreds of telephone calls from persons seeking information about the earthquake were handled by the numerous trunk lines into the office of The Glendale Evening News.

trend of the disturbance seemed to be southwest from here.

Dishes Broken In L. A. Homes During Morning

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—Earth shocks shook Los Angeles at 6:44 o'clock this morning. In several sections of the city persons were thrown out of bed and dishes broken.

The tremors came in two violent series, the first continuing for 10 or 15 seconds. Buildings were rocked but no property damage was reported. Many residents rushed into the streets, fearing structures would crash.

The second shock was less violent, but swayed buildings. According to reports from various sections of the city the shocks came inland from the sea and moved to the southwestern section of Los Angeles, where they were believed most violent.

Red Cross Offers Funds For Earthquake Relief

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The American Red Cross this afternoon telegraphed its branch office at San Francisco to offer whatever aid was necessary for victims of the earthquake. If additional funds are needed they will be wired from here.

Seismograph Records Shocks In Washington

SEATTLE, June 29.—A violent earthquake shock, lasting five minutes, was recorded on the University of Washington seismograph at 7 a. m. today.

Slight Tremors Rock Corona, Damage Slight

CORONA, June 29. — Slight earth tremors were felt here today. There was no damage.

Coast Quakes Deeper Than Montana Tremors

PASADENA, June 29.—The earth shocks in Montana during the last 48 hours were merely land slips, but tremors that shook Santa Barbara and vicinity this morning were of more deep seated action, Professor Elmer Day, earthquake authority told International News Service today. Professor Day is director of the geophysics laboratory, Carnegie Institute, Washington, D. C. He is now at the solar observatory, Pasadena, on special study.

Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo.

Photographers, police officers and railway officials were rushed from here to Santa Barbara at 9 o'clock by airplanes and automobiles.

A second relief train was dispatched from here to Santa Barbara shortly before 10 o'clock this morning carrying physicians and Red Cross nurses.

Tugs, equipped with powerful radio, were dispatched from Los Angeles harbor to Santa Barbara and will attempt to establish communication between Los Angeles and the demolished city. One of the tugs, the Peacock, was expected to reach Santa Barbara about noon.

All physicians and nurses that could be gathered together after the first news of the tremors reached here from Santa Barbara were rushed to a special train and hurried to the wrecked city.

The Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county passed a resolution offering Santa Barbara county any aid needed.

A special messenger stating Los Angeles was prepared to "go the limit" to aid the city was sent to Santa Barbara.

er the ocean, was spared. It is believed that these buildings were not leveled because they stood upon a sand foundation and the sand acted as a cushion when the shocks came.

We could see people in the Montecito section moving their furniture from their houses, and in some parts of Santa Barbara residents were moving out. Tile roofs on the expensive homes in Montecito were shaken to the ground and it is not believed the interiors of the residences were seriously damaged.

The Santa Barbara City Hall was literally shaken down, crumpling to earth like an old man. The court house is wrecked. The library building and recreation center are damaged.

Evidence of fire could be seen from the air in only three buildings, and the worst of these three was the Arlington hotel. It is hard to discern what the other buildings are from the air. The fire damage, aside from the Arlington hotel, does not appear to be great.

There are no great crowds milling around the streets. We could see streets roped off and patrols walking back and forth, keeping the people out of the danger zones.

One church in the center of the city which was in course of construction, was wrecked. Oil tanks at Summerland have given way and the coast highway is flooded with oil.

North of Santa Barbara there is evidence of the shock, but the greatest damage was in Santa Barbara.

Santa Barbara's greatest need today appears to be some method of refinancing the merchants of the city. The relief work is being well taken care of, and gangs of workmen are busy clearing away the debris.

It is not believed the list of dead will run as high as at first reported. From the air it is hard to tell or even estimate how many lives were lost, but since the quake spent its force in the central part of the city, and during the early morning hours, it is believed the loss of lives will not be high.

Brief Conversation Is Held Over Private Line

FRESNO, June 29.—The San Joaquin Light & Power Co. was in communication with Santa Barbara over a private line for about five minutes about noon today.

In this brief period a few details of the destruction wrought by the earthquake there were obtained.

State street, the principal thoroughfare of the city, was reported strewn with wreckage and debris from the earthquake.

The Arlington hotel and the Southern Pacific depot were reported in ruins.

No estimate was secured on the loss of life or the number of injured.

Gasoline Tanks Burst, Fluid Floods Streets

VENTURA, June 29.—Newspaper men who returned to Santa Barbara, after making a report at Ventura, said that the San Marcos building was wrecked and the Pythian and American Legion buildings were destroyed. They reported that the new Central bank building was so badly cracked that they thought repairs impossible. The new Masonic and Granada theatre buildings withstood the quake, they said.

The Associated Oil Co. gasoline tanks at Santa Barbara, according to these men, were wrecked and the inflammable fluid flooded the streets for several blocks, which were roped off and guarded to prevent fire.

Freighter Feels Shock Fifteen Miles At Sea

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The freighter Barbara C, fifteen miles off Santa Barbara, reported by wireless to the Federal station here, that the shock had been felt that far at sea, severe vibrations rocking the ship. The Federal company sent an operator to Santa Barbara by tug to endeavor to establish communication between this vessel and the outside world.

Radio corporation picked up reports from other vessels at even greater distances from Santa Barbara that the shock was felt at sea, giving rise to the belief that the center of the shock may have been off the Pacific coast directly west of Santa Barbara.

Three Navy Tugs Sent To Aid Quake Victims

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The navy department today gave permission to Rear-Admiral J. S. Dayton, commandant of the Twelfth naval district, San Francisco, to send three naval tugs to Santa Barbara for relief work. Dayton advised the department the tugs were available and could leave at once.

Southern Pacific Employes Give Summary Of Damage at Santa Barbara; Lack Of Water Proves Fire Danger

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Sixty-five bodies had been reported recovered this afternoon in Santa Barbara in the first definite news received from the stricken city.

The advices came to the Southern Pacific railroad headquarters here in a hastily gathered summary from employes who rushed to the nearest point of communication.

The city was menaced this afternoon by danger of flood, the report said.

The dam impounding the city's water supply was so weakened, the report said, that it was feared it would give way at any minute.

The city was without water, electric light or power.

Churches, School Buildings Wrecked

Hotels, business blocks, churches, schools and industrial structures were wrecked by the first shock.

Earth tremors were reported continuing at five-minute intervals, but in weakened intensity and without additional damage.

The following summary of the situation in Santa Barbara was received over the private lines of the San Joaquin Light & Power Co. of Fresno and telephoned to International News Service here:

Seven reported crushed to death when the walls of the Arlington hotel caved in.

State Street Is Filled With Debris

State street, the main thoroughfare, completely filled up with debris and impossible for traffic. State street has been roped off to prevent people from possible injuries from weakened walls.

The First National bank is reported destroyed.

Other buildings either destroyed or badly damaged include: The Pacific Southwest bank, the Santa Barbara mission, the city library, the city hall, the Granada theatre, the Catholic school building, the Carrillo hotel and the Cabrillo house.

Desperate efforts are being made by telephone and telegraph companies to restore communication into the stricken city.

First Manager Of Arlington Resides Here

Harry D. Clark, who was manager of the Arlington Hotel at Santa Barbara, when it was built and formally opened February, 1911, is now a resident of Glendale at 512 West Doran street. The hotel building that was wrecked in the earthquake disaster this morning, was built after the first Arlington hotel building was destroyed by fire. Mr. Clark is now in business in Hollywood.

Mrs. T. C. Hughey Is Anxious About Relatives

Mrs. T. C. Hughey of 400 North Isabel street is another Glendale resident in anxiety over relatives in Santa Barbara. Her brother-in-law, Fred Hughey and wife, are residents of the northern city. Mr. Hughey is employed at a lumberyard, and his Glendale relatives are anxious to get in touch with him and Mrs. Hughey.

Mrs. Emile Liebert Has Sister In Quake Zone

Mrs. Emile Liebert, of 540 West Vine street, today is anxiously awaiting word from her sister, Mrs. Frank Gordon, who lives in Santa Barbara. Mr. Gordon operates a garage opposite the Arlington hotel, Mrs. Liebert said, and it is believed his place of business was damaged by the quake.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Have Relatives In Area

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Anderson of 1249 South Adams street, were other Glendalians anxious to get in immediate communication with Santa Barbara. They have relatives in that city, whom they had hoped to visit when they left Wednesday on a trip north.

Sewer Trench Braces Displaced By Tremor

Earthquake shocks today caused slight damage to braces used to prevent cave-ins in the deep trenches in which Glendale's new sewer mains are being laid, it was reported today to the office of City Engineer J. F. Johannsen.

Contractors on several of the mains were forced to replace braces in some instances, and to increase the number to prevent the sandy slides of the trenches from engulfing workmen below.

Dam Breaks, Water Hits City! Rush Doctors, Nurses to Aid!

SAN LUIS OBISPO, June 29.—Reports to the Southern Pacific here declared that the Arlington hotel in Santa Barbara and one of the city's largest office buildings were demolished. Several smaller buildings also were wrecked, the reports said. A relief train is being rushed from here.

State street, the main thoroughfare of Santa Barbara, is badly wrecked. The water reservoir is out of commission, the reports declared.

The office building wrecked was the San Marcos block.

Nurses and doctors are being rushed with the relief train, in case of an emergency.

Five tremors were registered, according to the information conveyed here through courier and telephone. The first was registered at about 6:45 o'clock and the others followed in rapid succession and increased intensity.

The Gibraltar dam, above Santa Barbara, broke. The water from the reservoir is reported to be flooding the stricken city.

The Southern Pacific railway station at Goleta, eight miles north of Santa Barbara, was wrecked, the reports declared.

The Cabrillo house, near the beach, was split wide open by the tremors and collapsed, the Southern Pacific was informed.

A shortage of provisions and drinking water was reported from Santa Barbara this afternoon, but it was expected that relief trains from Los Angeles and San Francisco would effectually provide these necessities. The American Legion and the Santa Barbara police were reported to have the situation well in hand and the confusion that prevailed early today was gradually quieted. This afternoon the mild tremors that followed the first shock were dying away and fear of panic was being eliminated.

President Orders Aid Rushed To Quake Zone

PLYMOUTH, Vt., June 29.—President Coolidge, here at the bedside of his father, who is seriously ill, late this afternoon dispatched a telegram to Acting Secretary of War Davis and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur ordering them to place every facility available of both services at the disposal of the earthquake sufferers.

The president had been advised of the seriousness of the California disaster over the wires of the news service installed in the general store here to report the progress of his father's illness. The president's telegram, addressed to Secretary Davis, said:

"You and Secretary of the Navy give all possible aid to Santa Barbara."

Stage Driver Saw Hundreds Of Frantic People Who Fled From Ruins

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—From Camarillo, fifty miles out of Santa Barbara, C. R. Brown, a Pickwick stage driver, telephoned to Los Angeles at noon that when he left the stricken city at 7 a. m. "Santa Barbara was down," the streets three feet deep with water from broken mains and filled with the debris of fallen buildings. His was the only bus, he said, that succeeded in leaving the city. Others were trapped in their garages.

"The entire downtown section, looking down State street, was down," Brown said. "I believe there was three feet of water pouring into the ruins. My stage came in on De Lavino street and ran on Haley street. On these thoroughfares all the churches were down, as well as every brick or stucco building. The wooden houses seemed to have stood the strain pretty well.

"We saw two dead at Loomis' drug store—I forget what corner it's on.

"Our stage first felt the shock at Goleta, but we had no idea how severe it had been until we entered Santa Barbara."

Hundreds Flee

J. C. Afflick, with his wife and little daughter, passengers on the stage, corroborated Brown's story.

Afflick is an electrical expert and came directly from San Francisco on the stage.

"From what I could see," he said, "the business section was totally wrecked. State street was littered with the debris of falling buildings, and hundreds of people, in their night clothing, some of them nearly nude, ran madly around the streets, shouting and crying."

"We saw two fires, but could not tell whether it was houses or piles of debris.

"Women, shrieking with fear, waded into the streets and tore at the fallen masonry. Our stage did not stop, but made a roundabout turn and came through the Santa Susana pass."

Joe Bowen, a seaman, also a passenger on the bus, said that the stage began to rock and tremble shortly after it left Goleta.

"The trees shook so that their leaves fell and it sounded as if a heavy wind had struck them," Bowen said. "When we got into Santa Barbara it seemed as if a giant tank had trampled on the town.

"The farther into town from the north, the worse was the destruction. No building over one story high stood up in the downtown section. There were lots of wooden buildings up, but the general impression was that everything had gone flat.

"I never heard anything like the uproar of shrieking women, crying children and yelling men that ran around the ruins. They were unconscious of being nearly naked and seemed completely out of their minds.

"There was deep water in the streets, but I couldn't say how much. It went well over people's knees, however."

Shocks Being Recorded On Berkeley Instrument

BERKELEY, June 29.—At noon today Perry Byerly, head of the University of California observatory, announced that the university seismograph was continuing to record shocks on an average of every eight minutes.

The main shock was felt in the seismograph at 6:45.3 a. m., Byerly said, and it continued at its greatest intensity for three minutes afterwards. Another strong shock was registered at 8:38 a. m.

"There is little possibility that San Francisco and vicinity will be shaken," Byerly said. "The Southern California quakes have relieved much of the apparent earthquake strain. A peculiar thing is that excepting for the Montana disturbances of Saturday and Sunday no shocks were registered here during the last two months. In April, however, two hundred minor earthquakes were recorded."

Property Damage Fixed At $2,000,000 By Editor

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—A brief dispatch from T. C. Holt, editor of the Santa Barbara News, was received here this afternoon by way of Ventura, stating that six were positively known to have been killed in the earthquake which shook Santa Barbara this morning. Fifteen were treated in one hospital within a period of two hours with injuries ranging from fractured skulls to mere scratches.

Holt estimated the property damage at $2,000,000. He stated that one wing of the Arlington hotel, a well-known tourist resort, had been wrecked.

The first victim of the quake to be identified was James Hazard, address unknown. Hazard was killed by the falling wall of a cafe, while sitting in his automobile on State street.

Needle Shows Quake Shocks Unusually Bad

BERKELEY, June 29.—One of the severest earthquakes ever recorded on the University of Califronia seismograph was being registered here this morning. the main shock, according to Professor Terry Byerley, in charge of the university observatory, was registered over an hour ago and the pen was still oscillating. At one time the vibrations were so violent the needle was forced off the drum for three minutes.

The vibrations were continuing, Byerley said, and it was impossible to withdraw the record until the needle stopped recording.

GLENDALE PAIR ESCAPE FROM ARLINGTON

Mr., Mrs. Byron Armstrong Flee From Hotel and Thus Save Lives

Awakened from their sleep shortly after 6:30 o'clock this morning by the first shock of the earthquake that shattered Santa Barbara's business section, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Armstrong, 1260 Western avenue, escaped from the third floor of the Arlington hotel while it was falling bit by bit. They arrived in Glendale shortly after noon today.

The Armstrongs stopped at the Arlington last night en route home from the Yosemite valley, where they had spent their honeymoon.

The hotel is entirely wrecked, said Armstrong, although in a few places outside walls are still standing. Their automobile, parked overnight in a nearby garage, escaped damage when the garage walls fell because of an overhanging rafter that kept the roof from falling directly on it.

Drive Car Home

Driving out of Santa Barbara by a roundabout route to keep off State street, which Armstrong said is impassable because of debris, the local people finally made their way to the state highway south to Ventura. Before leaving the city they were warned that landslides had blocked the highway, but Armstrong said this afternoon that it is clear the entire distance.

"When we were awakened by the first tremor," said Armstrong, "we hurriedly dressed. Out of the hotel window we saw other brick buildings in the vicinity crumbling to pieces. We didn't stop to gather up any of our things. We tried to escape by the regular stairway, but we were blocked by a fallen wall.

Crawl Over Debris

"We were forced to crawl over debris and run through a heavy pall of dust that settled in the hallways. We found an exit through a gigantic hole in the side of the wall to a fire escape and made our way out. Several women fainted. Others had broken wrists and ankles and severe cuts and bruises.

"Streets are covered with more than a foot of water and mud, caused by broken water mains. Order was being maintained when we left by a few special policemen."

Mexico To Chase Out Undesirable Americans

MEXICO CITY, June 29.—Two hundred foreigners, including some Americans, will be expelled from Mexico by the Calles government, it was announced today. They are characterized as "undesirable" and, according to government officials, are petty crooks who came here to prey upon their countrymen. Most of them have been imprisoned, but the government has decided expulsion was the better solution.

TREMORS ROCK MONTANA AS LAND SLIPS

Property Damage Estimated At $1,000,000; No Lives Lost In Quake

BUTTE, Mont., June 29.—Fear continued today to grip residents of Montana as a result of the widespread convulsions of mother earth which, beginning early Saturday night, continued at intervals until late Sunday afternoon.

By a great miracle not a life was lost during the series of earthquakes, but the populations of cities and towns became panic stricken as the oscillating waves caused a rumbling and shaking over the entire state and were felt in Idaho, Wyoming and Washington. Property damage is estimated as high as $1,000,000.

Shifting along a main fault under the Rocky mountains near the Missouri river, started the earthquakes that rocked Montana from end to end, according to the belief of geologists, foremost among them being President C. C. Clapp of the University of Montana at Missoula.

The main fault was on a line between Three Forks and Manhattan, eleven miles apart, sixty miles north of the Yellowstone National park, and 150 miles east of Butte. These two towns were by far the hardest hit by the tremors, all business blocks in both being destroyed with more than 90 per cent of homes damaged. In Manhattan, a school building collapsed during one tremor Sunday afternoon after it had withstood forty distinct shocks in that vicinity.

Panic was felt by passengers on the Northern Pacific and Chicago, & St. Paul as three trains were blocked by landslides and the tracks ahead and behind piled high with rock and debris.

Tremors Last Hour At Saskatoon On Saturday

SASKATOON, Sask., June 29.—Buildings swayed and cracked, citizens rushed into the streets in a near panic and tremendous excitement was aroused here Saturday night, when this city felt principal effects of the first earthquake ever felt on the western Canadian prairie. The whole tremor lasted about an hour, commencing at 6 o'clock and ending with a violent disturbance at 7:12 o'clock.

First Shocks Are Felt At Calgary, Alberta

CALGARY, Alberta, June 29.—Chandeliers in public buildings rocked unaccountably Saturday at 6:30 p. m. as Calgary experienced the first earthquake shock in its history.

Huge Boulder Is Blockading Railway Line

SEATTLE, June 29.—Differing reports of the extent of the blockade near Lombard tunnel, on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad in Montana, as the result of earthquake shocks in that region Saturday and Sunday, reached the road's Seattle headquarters today.

According to one report which is given more credence than others, a huge boulder twenty feet high and weighing several hundred tons, is blocking the line near the tunnel. The tunnel itself caved in.

TEUTONS SEEK HENRY FORD AS KAISER

Astounding News Comes Out Of Europe In Letter By Traveler To Paper

W. T. Jefferson, well known Glendalian, now on a trip through Europe, writes to the Glendale Evening News from Paris, France. The suggestion in the first paragraph of his letter, while interesting is, to say the least, startling. Would Henry Ford care for the honor even if tendered him?

"Henry Ford has been suggested as the next kaiser of Germany. Not one but several Germans, well placed in the business world, expressed this as a possibility, or at least a very good idea," writes Jefferson.

"'We Germans regarded war as part of our business machine—a means of quick domination over other countries,' said one of them to me. 'Now we know that there is no victory or progress in war, if indeed the victors are not worse off than the vanquished. Henry Ford, by his marvelous powers as an organizer, has shown us how, with a man like him as a leader, Germany, with the finest trained workers of any country, could inevitably lead the world in commercial progress and production.'

Germans Convinced

"I invited the man who made this statement to come to Glendale and try our climate—but he would only talk of Henry Ford. He said Ford could have the greatest welcome in Germany of any living man, because now all Germans know that the stories of his organization and production are true. For years they were not generally believed as the war lords of Germany did not want facts of American business success to be known or believed.

"I sailed from New York May 14, on the new Hamburg American 'Deutschland,' a floating section of Germany. And it did seem good to see 'Gus' and 'Louie' parked behind a huge free lunch counter, with a fresh keg on ice close by. Many Americans (after the proper period of saturation) shed tears of joy, or Budweiser, as old memories were revived.

"The German service is good

WANT NEW SCHOOL IN ATWATER DISTRICT

Residents Claim Board of Education Becoming Lax In Matter; May Ask For Change In Personnel

Citizens of the Atwater district continue to be highly incensed by what they term the apathy of the Los Angeles Board of Education in school matters in the district. The latest opposition to the school board is occasioned by an old fight, the hurrying of work on the proposed $65,000 addition to the Atwater grammar school.

So great is the indignation of Atwater citizens over the failure of the school board to get work started on the new school building that they threaten a coalition with other outlying districts of the city of Los Angeles in an effort to force a change in the personnel of the board.

The Atwater residents claim they have three principal grievances against the school board—failure to start work on the grammar school addition as promised, failure to take any concrete action toward purchasing a site and building a high school in the Ivanhoe hills district which would serve Atwater students and failure to give due recognition to requests from the Atwater Improvement association and others for a new school to house the lower grades in the district between Glendale and Los Feliz boulevard.

Apparent lack of co-operation on the part of the school board is driving residents of the Atwater and adjacent district to desperate measures to see that their needs and desires receive some attention, President Arthur Gilman of the Atwater Improvement association said.

Officers of the Improvement association point to the fact that the board's latest promise to start actual construction of the Atwater school addition as soon as school closed has been broken as the board is not yet ready to commence work. Bonds for the Atwater addition were voted more than a year-and-a-half ago. Since that time continual efforts to rush the construction of the new wing have met with one stumbling block after another. Crowded conditions which forced adoption of a half-day schedule in many of the classes during the term just ended, will prevail again when school opens in the fall due to the long delay in starting the work, Miss Rosalind, principal, announced.

Underground Storm Drain

An underground storm drain to care for flood waters accumulated on streets of the Atwater district will be built at the same time that street improvement work, now being started, is done, according to the ordinance of intention passed by the Los Angeles City Council. According to the ordinance the cost of the storm drain will be prorated over an assessment district including all the territory served by the run-off system. The water will be carried to the Los Angeles river by the drain pipes.

Personals From District

Mrs. P. J. Erickson, 3723 Revere avenue, and her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Davis and son, Richard, visited last week with a cousin, Mrs. Edward Anderson at Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Schenegard of Los Angeles are planning to move today to 3723½ Revere avenue, where they will make their future home.

Clinton-Foss Nuptials

One of the most elaborate weddings of June was that of Miss Audrey Clinton of 3444 Garden avenue, Atwater, and Maurette Clarkson Foss of 3512 West Pico avenue, Los Angeles, which was solemnized Saturday night, June 27, 1925, at 8 o'clock at St. Paul's Cathedral, Los Angeles. The Right Very Reverend Dean McCormick performed the ceremony in the presence of 600 relatives and friends. Baskets and altar vases of pink gladioli and greenery were used in effective arrangement to decorate the church.

The bride wore a dress of white satin trimmed with pearls and silk lace. Her veil was tulle held in place with a coronet of pearls, lace and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Evelyn Rosenberg, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore blue georgette over satin and carried an arm bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses. Mrs. Norman Allen, sister of Mr. Foss, was matron of honor. She wore orchid georgette and carried an arm bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses.

COURTS LIKENED TO ROBBER BAND

Alleged Legal Injustices Of Today Are Attacked In Letter Sent News

Editor The Evening News:—As one of the readers of your estimable paper I wish to express my admiration for your many valuable editorials and discussions of subjects affecting public welfare.

In your article, "Bar is Guilty," of June 25, you have dared to print something that should agitate the minds of every thinking person. We, the people of this United States, should be awakened from our slumbers and be made to realize that to our eternal vigilance we owe the price of liberty. Courts and brigandage are robbing us of many of our rights. Law and justice are no longer synonomous, but in almost distinct contradition as we find them.

We are being forced to believe that the illegal operator is as respectable as the legalized one. That the rum runner is as decent as the man who will partake of his goods. That the man who must be content to ride in a Ford is as respectable and honorable as the man who displays a Rolls-Royce, or a Pierce-Arrow, or a Packard, or something else.

There is a very great indifference in the minds of the many people affecting public morals, and human welfare in general. And when it comes to matters of right and justice, they vanish altogether. Everyone seems to be interested only in self, while brotherly love goes begging for an existence.

Jurist Is Praised

Surely Judge James H. Wilkerson, to whom your article refers, deserves the love, respect, and admiration of every American citizen. Such a stand as he takes endears him to every intelligent and justice-loving person. He certainly deserves the highest encomium for his brotherly attainments. He has voiced the very sentiments of a great many careful minded people, and in his capacity he should know whereof he speaks. He senses the great disrespect for law and miscarriage of justice, and asserts the very reasons for it.

When jurists themselves will openly violate the very fundamental principles of law and justice they at once set up a contempt for courts and all court procedure.

Courts should be, and are designed to be, a refuge for the distressed, but in that respect they are failures many times. The abuse is so flagrant that many people are in mortal fear of lawyers and present day courts, with absolutely no exaggeration. Excessive fees and the chicanery in court procedure destroy all desire for appeal. Many distresses are endured rather than to run the risk of losing what one may have left.

Essentials Overlooked

On the other hand, jurists will tell you that cases are too often improperly presented and illy handled by attorneys as that a correct decision may not be rendered in many cases. There is a sort of machine grind that does not reach the essentials of cases oftentimes and so it is that justice is not awarded. Lawyers seem to go off half-cocked and never get down to the very essence of matters for some reason. Cases are not prepared properly and so the client suffers. In cases of my own some of the most important facts on which judgment is supposed to hinge have been ignored entirely, and the case decided upon insufficient evidence.

When a lawyer will seek to break down a good law for personal gain, and to free a violator of crime, he has established himself as a detestable character and in every sense he is no better than a criminal himself only that law cannot reach him as it should.

Give us fewer laws of the right kind and men of character to administer them, and thus lift one of our noblest professions from the mire, and set the admiration of our people "high and dry" where it should be.

VETERANS STAGE SHOWS FOR FUND

Glendale Endowment Quota To Be Raised In Two Days, Is Plan

Glendale's quota of the $4000 as part of the American Legion's endowment fund of $5,000,000 to be used in caring for disabled veterans and orphans of veterans, will be raised Wednesday and Thursday when the official corps picture, "Over the Top With the Allies," will be shown at the Glendale theatre, according to an announcement today by Richardson D. White, chairman of the endowment fund committee of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion.

The local legionnaires hope to raise the entire quota by the showing of this picture. It will be the first time this picture has been shown in Southern California, and William A. Howe, manager of the theatre, has donated the use of his equipment for the two days.

Tickets on Sale

Tickets for the shows are on sale at Roberts & Echols, Hub Pharmacy, Glendale avenue and Colorado boulevard; Central Pharmacy, Central avenue and Los Feliz road, and Chambers' Pharmacy, Doran street and Brand boulevard. Dr. P. H. Hubbard, proprietor of Hub Pharmacy, has a special window display in honor of the occasion.

The shows will be at the regular time, the matinees starting at 2:30 o'clock and the night shows at 7 and 9 o'clock. Matinee prices will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Night prices will be 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for children. Patron tickets, good for loge seats, are being sold at $2.50 each.

PLAN 'Y' CAMP AT CATALINA FOR BOYS

Many Glendale Youths And Men To Enjoy Vacation Back With Nature

More than 130 Glendale youths will be given a real vacation, with swimming, boating, mountain hiking, camp fires and everything, through the activities of the local Y. M. C. A. this summer. Complete plans for the "Y" summer camp at Catalina island were announced today by Rex C. Kelley, secretary. The camp will last for ten days, opening July 15. Secretary Kelley has arranged for a special three-car train to carry the boys to the harbor. From there they will take the boat for Camp Shaw situated in a sheltered cove on the island.

An elaborate program of activities has been mapped out for the camp. The boys will be divided into four groups, according to age, so that play and work appropriate for the different ages can be provided.

Camp to Have Mayor

The camp will be entirely self-governing. Immediately upon arrival at the island the boys will elect a camp council and a mayor. There will be a camp bank and in order to procure money to spend the boy will have to issue a check on the camp financial institution.

Athletics and educational classes will occupy much of the camp program. A dozen small boats in which the boys will be able to explore the inner coast line will be provided. Swimming, hiking, baseball and field sports will be part of the daily routine.

Classes in first aid and nature study will be conducted reg-

Heavenly Bodies Give Message, Asserts Knox

That the heavenly bodies have always proclaimed a message from God to the inhabitants of the earth, and that they proclaim a special message to the people of this day was the claim made by Astronomer-evangelist Knox in his lecture last night.

"This special message for our day," Knox said, "is stated in Matthew, which records the prophecy of Christ as to what would happen before his return to the earth. First, he said many false Christs would arise; next, Jerusalem was to be compassed with armies and be desolated by them and the followers of Christ, when they should see this hostile force before the city, were to know that the time had come to flee. This happened in A. D. 66. The Roman army was on the point of taking the city, when without any reason in the world, says the historian, it suddenly retreated, and thus gave the Christians opportunity to escape."

Prefacing his lecture, Mr. Knox invited his hearers to attend the exposition now being conducted by merchants of Glendale and the American Legion, on account of which his lectures will be suspended Monday and Tuesday nights. The telescope will be mounted at the exposition tent for the free use of those attending. Wednesday night Mr. Knox will speak on the subject, "Our Planet in Eternity."

Glendalians Take Part In Final C. E. Sessions

Kern county won first prize in the parade at the state Christian Endeavor convention in San Diego Saturday, with Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Glendale, accorded a place of honor in the procession. He gave the principal address at last night's closing session, his subject being ,"The Rule of Three for Development of the Life That Wins: Bible, Prayer, Obedience." Howard L. Brown, another Glendalian, presided over the annual veterans' banquet Saturday. Registration for the convention approached the 4000 mark.

Ten thousand new members and seventy-seven new C. E. societies in the state was the record of achievement read by the secretary, prior to election of officers, as follows:

President, Emmet Chapman, San Francisco; first vice-president, Willard Robinson, Lodi; second vice-president, Herman Neufeld, Reedley, and general secretary, Glen Wright, Corona. Stockton was selected as the next convention city.

Glendale Couple Renew Romance After Years

The romance of James W. White, Glendale man, wrecked on the rocks of discord nearly six years ago, was renewed Saturday in San Diego, when White and his former wife, Laureate S. White, were remarried after long years of separation. They will live in a little bungalow in Glendale in the future.

Married more than six years ago, the couple soon disagreed and parted, the wife returning to the home of her parents in Chicago. Absence did its usual trick of making the severed hearts grow fonder, correspondence followed, and the former wife arrived Friday in San Diego, where she was met by White. They were married the next morning, once more to resume the marital state.

NINETY WONDERFUL YEARS

A man was being congratulated the other day on having reached the age of 90 years and he replied jovially that ninety years is not so long after all. As time and eternity are considered, he is right, but has there ever been such a "long" ninety years in the history of the world as the nine decades just psased? Have any people in any age ever been permitted to spend ninety years so filled with accomplishment as the nonagenarians of today? A thousand years in most ages would have revealed a less varied spectacle than that which has passed before our eyes during the last century.

From a world recovering from Napoleon to a world recovering from Wilhelm; from pioneer America to America, the center of the world; from the covered wagon to automobile and airplane; from the pony express to telephone and radio; through an era of rapid expansion in human contacts and transformation in human life and methods of living.

A man died recently who had seen Chicago grow from a village to the wonderful city it is today. To have done that in Berlin he would have had to live to be 1000 years old, in Paris or London 2000 years old, in Rome nearly 3000 and in Peking much older still. Even in New York he would have had to live 300 years. Only in the central or western section of the United States could any man have had such an experience. In Chicago or Los Angeles the lifetime of a man covers what elsewhere would have spanned the ages.

The people who have lived in this section of the world in this period of the world's history have been wonderfully blessed. But it is not for us to say that the next generation will not see equally rapid change and equal progress.

OUR WEAKNESS

The greatest failing of the American people is to feel that everything we do is right and what other people do is wrong. We are too apt to look with disdain upon those whose customs differ from ours. The liberal person recognizes that another can have habits differing from his own and still be both intelligent and decent.

The Chinese shave the upper part of their faces and wear their shirt-tails outside their trousers. American men shave the lower part of their faces and wear their shirts inside their trousers. In Africa the chiefs wear tails of oxen and lions and other beasts around their necks as decorations. American women wear ermine and fox-tails for the same purpose and to show that their husbands have money. African ladies polish their noses, while Americans take the shine off their noses and put it on their finger-nails. A generation ago American women encased their bodies in stays and then shuddered because Chinese women were so heathenish as to bind their feet. We are amused because some of the South Sea tribes wear rings in thir noses, while we put them on our fingers, around our necks and in our ears.

We live in glass houses ourselves and so should not throw stones.

UNCALLED FOR CRITICISM

Gen. Robert Lee Bullard's arraignment of the negro soldier, coming as it does seven years after the war, looks like a bid for publicity, as there seems to be no call for any discussion of the matter at this time. At any rate, he has stirred up considerable newspaper comment adverse to the stand he has taken by declaring that the 92nd division (colored) was made up of inferior soldiers. Not all the colored men in the war were heroes, many of them had no chance to be heroic, and the same is true of the white troops. But there are on record many cases of negro soldiers who acquitted themselves with bravery and heroism.

It is suggested by a correspondent in the Chicago Tribune that under the system of race discrimination practiced throughout the country, southern negroes have little opportunity to fit themselves for leadership. It is folly to keep a people inferior in time of peace and then expect them to rise to heights of superiority in war.

It is significant that General Bullard was born in Alabama.

COUNTESS IS CUTTING

A London newspaper characterizes Margot Asquith's latest book, "Places and Persons," a "the vivisection of a nation—without an anesthetic," referring to that part of the work wherein she discussed the United States of America. England is showing more respect for the literary efforts of Margot Asquith now that she is Countess of Oxford, but it cannot be said that America is suffering very intensely from her unkind cuts, even "without an anesthetic."

This lady says of us that American newspapers stimulate all that is worthless; prohibition in the United States is a failure; jazz, hustle and headlines are killing the souls of the American people; the ingrained idea that the Americans are a free people is pathetically untrue; and that she found us a continent clamoring to hear about Princess Mary's underwear.

Perhaps it is because we are so degenerate that we do not care what this titled lady says of us. Some English newspapers fear the book will wound American sensibilities, but there is not much danger of our taking it as seriously as that.

NEWSDEALER AMAZED

In connection with the efforts being made in many communities to lessen the circulation of filthy publications a certain newsdealer glanced through a shipment of cheap magazines not long ago without any suggestion from anyone and voluntarily destroyed what he had on hand and cancelled his order for six publications because "they were so rotten I feared some one would see me looking at them." One reason there has been so much of this kind of literature accessible to the young is because the dealers themselves have not known how pernicious such magazines are Getting Reverse English on This Evolution Stuff, Aren't We?

The Jungle

By DR. FRANK CRANE

All around us is the jungle waiting to come in.

If all the people in a community were destroyed, it would not be long before the wild beasts invaded it.

A story was written some time ago which fancifully depicted the experiences of the last man on earth. He woke one morning to find all the people of the city of Boston gone except himself. At first he revelled in the abundance of supplies everywhere. The grocery stores were full of provisions and the banks full of money, only waiting for him to go and get what he desired.

He soon found, however, after a day or so that the spiders were invading his club. The wolves encountered him in the streets and the sea monsters entered the bay. It was not long before he was chased by the wild animals and compelled to seek refuge in one of the houses. He discovered that being the only man on earth was no dream of bliss but a very serious condition.

Civilization always triumphs by the organization of human society. Barbarous men and barbarous animals are held at bay only because of the activities of civilized beings.

According to the news dispatches, starving wolves have besieged Vilna, a settlement of Edmonton, Alberta. There are reports of wolves around Vilna and these reports were forwarded to the headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Winnipeg. All social affairs and trips at night have been cancelled because of the wolves threatening the lives of several residents, the dispatches state.

Whenever civilization stops or men cease their activities, the jungle is ready to break in.

The same thing is true of every one of us. Disease stands ready to invade us with the absence of positive health.

Ignorance and vice await the destruction of knowledge and virtue.

Each one of us has only to cease his activities and his place will speedily be taken by someone of those who stand waiting with hungry eyes and stomachs to take his place.

Horoscope

Astrologers read this as an exceedingly doubtful day in planetary direction. The Sun and Neptune are both adverse.

While this configuration prevails it will be well to curb one's ambition to accomplish big things; it is a time for routine work.

It is wise to curb all the physical energies at this time because the planetary influences tend to deplete the physical powers.

It is not an auspicious day to seek support for political appointments or to ask for any sort of financial backing.

Warning is given that egotism may be evident among men and women hitherto apparently modest, for all the influences of the stars accent personality today and incline persons to overestimate their talents.

Art and metaphysics will focus much attention from all classes of men and women in the coming weeks when spiritualism, also, will command attention.

Again cooperative enterprises are subject to good influences that should benefit large groups of men and women.

Home-owning will be encouraged greatly by the aspects next month when real estate will be active in many parts of the country.

Reactionary influences, previously mentioned by the seers, will be evident by by the simple life of many persons who have been social leaders.

Beauty will be the heritage of American children, it is again foretold and this country is to attain a fame unequalled even by ancient Greece, the seers declare.

Earthquakes will disturb Italy as well as certain parts of this country, but there is not likely to be serious damage.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the forecast of a year of average success in financial affairs, but they must take no risks.

Children born on this day probably will be of strongly positive natures and they will succeed best in independent ventures. Girls may be especially gifted and boys endowed with power to attain the heights in public life.

Today's Poem

MAGNA EST VERITAS

Here, in this little Bay,
Full of tumultous life and great repose,
Where, twice a day,
The purposeless, glad ocean comes and goes,
Under high cliffs, and far from the huge town,
I sit me down.
For want of me the world's course will not fail;
When all its work is done, the lie shall rot;
The truth is great, and shall prevail,
When none cares whether it prevail or not.

—Coventry Patmore.

NAME NOT NECESSARY

It happened last summer at a resort:

"All aboard!" shouted the conductor.

The young couple who had been standing a little apart started.

"It'll sure be lonesome here without you!" he observed.

"And I'll miss you, too," she told him. "This has been the best vacation I ever had, and all because I met you yesterday."

"But just think of all the days we might have been together!" he wailed.

"All aboard," the conductor insisted.

"Oh, dear! I've got to go!" she exclaimed on the verge of tears.

He kissed her good-by, quite ignoring the persons who looked on with mild amusement.

"You'll write?" she called from the platform.

"Every day," he promised, as the train began to move.

And then he suddenly dashed after the train.

"Wait a minute!" he yelled despairingly. What did you say your name was?"

GETTING PREPARED

A young wife said to her husband one night: "My dear, there is a gentleman in the parlor. He wants to speak to you."

"Who is it? Do you know?" the husband asked.

"Dear," said the wife, "you must forgive me, but that cough has bothered you so much of late, and though spring is coming on, it still clings to you, and—O, if you knew how worried I've been about you!" And she threw her arms around his neck. "What would I do if I were to lose you!" she moaned.

"Come, come," said the young man, patting her shoulder tenderly. "Men don't die of a slight cold. So you've called in the doctor, eh? Well, I'll see him gladly if it will make you feel easier. Which one is it—Squills?"

"It isn't the doctor, dear," was the answer. "It's the life insurance agent."

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

CLARK KINNAIRD

It is the season of commencement orations, and from everywhere we are getting dull and lengthy reports of the Progress of Society.

It was Emerson who observed that all men plume themselves on the improvement of Society, and no man improves.

* * *

After all, Society is a wave. The wave moves onward, but the water of which it is composed does not.

"Society never advances," Emerson opined.

"It recedes as fast on one side as it gains on the other.

"Its progress is only apparent, like the workers of a treadmill.

"It undergoes continual changes—it is civilized, it is christianized, it is rich, it is scientific; but this change is not amelioration."

* * *

For everything that is given, something is taken. Society acquires new arts and loses old instincts. Man has airplanes, but he is losing the use of his feet.

Emerson complained because man, with his fine watches, has lost the skill to tell the hour by the sun, and, further:

"A Greenwich nautical almanac he has, so being sure of the information when he wants it, the man in the street does not know a star in the sky. The solstice he does not observe; the equinox he does not observe; and the whole bright calendar of the year is without a dial in his mind.

"His not books impair his memory; his libraries overload his wit; his insurance increases the number of accidents, and it may be a question whether machinery does not encumber, whether we have lost by refinement some energy, by a christianity intrenched in establishments and forms, some vigor of wild virtue. For every stoic is a stoic; but in Christendom, where is the Christian?"

* * *

In the final analysis, the arts and invention of each period are only its costume, and do not uplift man. The radio has not made man better able to think, nor have the X-ray, the automobile, the airplane, the motion picture, or the other wonders of our time.

We should think less of progress, and more of happiness. And happiness is contentment.

Who's Who

The man who renewed four months ago his offer of a $25,000 prize to the men who should first make a non-stop airplane flight from France to the United States, is soon to sail for France to be present when the flight is started. He is Raymond Orteig. Paul Tarascon and Francois Coli, who were in the French air service during the war, both being wounded, will make a bid for the prize in a hydroplane, starting about July 25. Their route covers England, Ireland, Newfoundland and Nova Scotia, to New York.

Orteig, who has been proprietor of the Cafe Lafayette and the Hotel Brevoort, New York, more than twenty years and who for nearly twenty years before that was identified with the Cafe Martin, which preceded the Lafayette, offered the prize first in 1919. He was moved to this by the fact that the American N-C boats, in their pioneer flight across the Atlantic, went by way of the Azores, Portugal and England without touching France.

He thought this a pity, as one born in France and who had been thirty-seven years an American resident and citizen. Originally he set a time limit of five years for the prize, but last January was moved to extend the period. In April Tarascon and Coli announced their purpose of attempting the flight.

Since his original offer Orteig has come to take more than a merely patriotic interest in this Western flight across the Atlantic. Olcott and Brown in 1919 demonstrated that a non-stop flight from America to Europe could be made. They had the assistance of prevailing winds, which will, throughout most of the year, oppose flights in the opposite direction. It it is demonstrated that an airplane can make a non-stop flight across the Atlantic from east to west, an important step will have been accomplished.

Orteig wants to accompany the men on the flight if possible.

WIFE BECOMES REALTOR

SANTA ANA, June 29.—Forced to support herself, she said, and having religious objections to divorce, Mrs. Lillian D. Snow, wife of Spencer Snow, has applied to the superior court for authority to enter business "for herself" independent of her husband. She applied to be declared a "sole trader," the legal term expressing the status she desires to occupy.

Mrs. Snow charged that her husband had failed to support her and that he was guilty of cruelty, but that her faith opposed divorce. She proposes to conduct a business of personal service and dealing in real estate. The business will be financed with her own separate capital, $350, she declared.

James Starborn, cafe employe.

William Mathews, official of the lathers' union.

Florence Clark, nurse who died from injuries received when she jumped from hospital window.

F. H. Shea, janitor at St. Anthony's church.

The seriously injured: Dr. Henry G. Hensey, interne at the Cottage hospital. Dr. Louis J. Dienero, Seattle. Ruth Allen, nurse, St. Francis hospital. William Renmick. George Miller, of El Camino hotel. Miss Kentiseen. Mrs. William McElroy. Herdo Chaney.

Fire Sweeps Business Section of Lakeport

LAKEPORT, June 29.—A raging fire completely destroyed a city block here this afternoon and was sweeping its way through a second block in spite of frantic efforts of scores of volunteer fire fighters. Many buildings have been burned to the ground. Origin of the fire is not yet known Appeals for help have been sent to several nearby towns and aid is being rushed. A strong wind was blowing, making fire-fighting extremely difficult. The block destroyed and the one now burning are along Main street. No one has been reported killed or injured.

London Lawyer Loses Wife After Scandal

LONDON, June 29.—Lady Gertrude Dunn was today granted a divorce from Sir James Dunn, the case being undefended. Sir James, a famous Canadian lawyer and financier who has been engaged in business in London for some years, was named as co-respondent when the Marquis of Queensberry recently entered divorce proceedings against his marchioness, who before her marriage was Irene Richards, a London actress.

Prohibition Field Marshal Reorganizing Forces Under New Plan

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Retired and former United States and navy officers may form the backbone of the administration's new prohibition enforcement system, it was learned at the treasury today.

General L. C. Andrews, field marshal of prohibition, who is reorganizing enforcement under plans approved by President Coolidge, announced that qualifications being equal he will select ex-military men as district administrators in preference to civilians.

Twenty-One Killed In Week-End Accidents

CHICAGO, June 29.—Twenty-one persons lost their lives in motor accidents in the mid-west over the week-end. Six persons were killed in Chicago and vicinity.

CHINA SITUATION CRITICAL, REPORT

Consuls Advise Foreigners To Leave Shameen; Fear Another Attack

CANTON, China, June 29.—The situation at Canton was dangerously critical today. The British and French consuls requested all foreigners to leave Shameen, the foreign concession. A possible recurrence of the armed conflict of last week was feared.

Evidence that Soviet Russia was participating in the financing of China's foreign agitation was believed uncovered late today, with the arrest of Zinovie Dosser, Soviet trade agent, and his wife, Ivgina, as they were returning to Hong Kong, from where both had been recently deported.

General mobilization of all defense forces has been ordered for 7 a. m. Tuesday, in anticipation of possible trouble in connection with memorial services to be held by the Chinese populace commemorating May 30, the day when the agitating Shanghai students were killed by international settlement police. Chinese authorities are endeavoring to suppress the demonstration.

on their new boats. The other nations will have to exert themselves to hold their lead in ocean passenger traffic. For the German officers and crew make every effort to regain their lost laurels, and they seem to be unanimous in declaring that war is 'no good.'

No Seasickness

"The stabilizer which is on the Deutschland and is supposed to prevent the boat from rocking and causing seasickness seems to be a success, as the new boats are being equipped with it. It is one of a number of improvements which the Germans are introducing for the purposes of comfort. They have apparently abandoned the high speed plan for their new craft.

"The few California passengers on board silenced the one man from Florida by batteries of unanswerable arguments before our boat had left New York harbor. But the Florida man had a tale that will interest Glendalians. It seems that in the small Florida city where he has considerable property, he has been refused business zoning and also a permit to build a theatre and business block, because of there being vacant stores in older sections of the city. These stores may be vacant for some time as the greatest growth of the city, as in all new towns, is in the newly opened sections. This improvement of a business block and a small theatre may be lost to the city.

"Now a public discussion of the affair, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, is planned, for owners of property ready for business zoning in the new sections of the city have demanded that no new churches or residences be allowed to be built until all of the old ones are filled, and they demand that the affair be discussed in public. The results will be very interesting for over-building is an almost universal problem in small, rapidly growing communities and a very difficult one to cope with.

Florida Selling Out

"Already there is evident an earnest desire to get out from under in Florida real estate. Everyone is talking of selling, said my informant. Buyers are not often heard of. Optimists tell of the money they will make as soon as they sell out. The idea of building and holding the buildings indefinitely as an investment is never mentioned.

"A surprising number of Americans are registering from Florida. Since the new taxation laws went into effect there nearly every hotel register here in Paris contains names of ex-residents of other states, crowding for shelter and comfort under the protecting wing of the new Florida law. We in California need not fool ourselves as to this law. It will draw wealth to Florida as flies to honey. Is there not some way that California can make her laws more attractive to the retired citizens from other states?"

garet Hampton, Frances Miller, Ruth Jesmer and Rosalind Gates. Misses Hampton and Miller wore pale green georgette over satin and carried pink sweetpeas. Misses Jesmer and Gates wore peach georgette and carried bouquets of orchid sweetpeas. Little Miss Dorothy Vaughan was flower girl. She was dressed in yellow georgette. Ushers were: Paul Miller, Norman Allen, Al Colby and E. Llewellyn Overholt.

Miss Clara Ferlin sang "All For You" and "Oh, Promise Me," preceding the ceremony. The bridal chorus from Lohengrin was played by Mr. Fitch, church organist and as the strains of the music were heard, the bridal party began the march into the church. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played for the bridal party to march out after the ceremony.

A reception for 150 wedding guests was held at the home of Mrs. Foss's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Franklin Clinton at 3444 Graden avenue, after the ceremony.

Mrs. Foss has been music teacher in the Atwater school for the past two years and is a well known resident in the district. Numerous social affairs were given for her since announcement of her engagement was known. Mr. Foss is owner of the Forum Radio shop, 3512 West Pico street. After a honeymoon trip to the northern part of the state, Mr. and Mrs. Foss will return to Los Angeles to make their home.

Practice Of Prayer Is Vital, Says Minister

Members and attendants of the Occult Science of Christ church, 113 South Orange street, had the pleasure last night of listening to a helpful and interesting sermon on the subject, "The Practice of Prayer," delivered by Guy Moore, speaker for that organization.

Moore said in part: "The practice of prayer strikes at the very heart of the problem of religion. If religion is to be an effective thing, and not merely a subjective illusion in individual minds, then, in some way or other, prayer must stand as a method of communion with the Divine. Now, to an inquiring mind, it will come to be just that, it will come to be a method of communion with God. Prayer in its highest form is a channel that unites strength and power of the Godhead. A man sitting in calm and quiet contemplation of God, or in sincere and ardent prayer is drawing on the divine storehouse of life and energy, whether he knows it or not.

"In the light of this teaching, prayer and its practice becomes to us a privilege as much as a duty and a constant source of inspiration and strength. Many of the great men of church and state have found in prayer their ally in times of trouble and distress; it has been to many the most comforting of all the practices of the religious life. Thus do we see that we have in the practice of prayer a never-failing, potent, and time-honored instrument for the enriching of our lives, in every department of our religious and spiritual endeavors."

Valley Projects Will Be Talked At Banquet

Property owners of the San Fernando valley, with officials of the city and county governments, will meet tonight at the Alexandria hotel in Los Angeles for the second annual banquet of the Greater San Fernando Valley association to discuss plans for early consummation of the valley's major improvement projects.

Reservations made with Executive Secretary O. J. Renfrew indicate that more than 500 valley property owners will attend the conference, which will be featured by the association's announcement of definite plans to establish rapid transit service to all valley points, adequate flood control, the installation of a valley-wide sewer system, the association's advertising program, industrial plans and other important matters.

C. G. Milham, executive secretary of the All Year club; members of the new City Council, City Engineer H. A. Van Norman, Secretary Hugh R. Pomeroy of the Regional Planning commission, G. Gordon Whitnall of the City Planning commission, David R. Faries of the major traffic commission, Chairman R. F. McClellan of the Board of Supervisors, J. W. Reagan, county flood control engineer, and others prominent in civic affairs will take part in the conference.

LOS ANGELES

For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—One thousand members of the Southern California Dental association open their annual session here tonight after a round of golf at the Hillcrest club today. The Chamber of Commerce, Twelfth and Broadway, is convention headquarters.

The Council of Catholic Women of the local diocese are in convention today at the Catholic Women's clubhouse, San Marino and Menlo streets. The Rt. Rev. J. G. Crawley and Rev. Father P. J. O'Hara are speakers tonight.

Plans are being made at the city hall today for inauguration of officers under the new charter form of government, July 1, at 12 o'clock. Boyle Workman is again slated to preside over the council, it is reported.

Mario Lamonti and Roy Delahouseay, 14-year-old boys, were treated at the Receiving hospital for flesh wounds received yesterday afternoon when both were struck by one stray bullet.

Max H. Whittier, aged 57, oil man, and one of the most active supporters of the McKinley Home for Boys at Van Nuys, died at a Redlands sanatorium Sunday. He leaves three sons and a daughter to mourn him at the family's Beverly Hills home.

In addition to a score of motor crashes, two women attempted suicide, two attacks in Long Beach were reported, another alleged attacker was captured in Los Angeles, and an unusual amount of petty crime kept officers of the law busy the last 24 hours. Fifty alleged liquor law violators faced court today as the result of sheriff's office raids early Sunday morning.

Trial of J. J. Hickey, former policeman, opened in Superior Judge Arthur Keetch's court today, Deputy District Attorney Harold L. Davis asking that the death penalty be inflicted, it being alleged Hickey shot his wife and baby while intoxicated.

Army officials here were particularly gratified today over reports for a complete Defense day test July 4 being planned in all southern counties. All able-bodied men are urged to enrol in their respective communities at noon hour.

Pacoima Prospectors Want Road To Claims

With more than fifty mineral claims already established in Pacoima canyon, owners of claims have petitioned for the construction of a road into the heart of the canyon, so that ore can be shipped and the claims put on a paying basis.

Recent surveys of the canyon reveal over a half hundred claims staked out. Ore recently shipped from the Gordon mine to Arizona for analysis is said to have shown a high percentage of aluminum, iron, silica, calcium carbonate and magnesia. The aluminum content is said to have averaged more than 9 per cent, which alone would place the value of the ore at $35 per ton.

Much of the territory is declared to be much richer in aluminum than the portion from which the test ore was taken. Other assays show copper, silver, and lead as high as $55 to the ton. Gold showings have been anywhere from $20 to $35 to the ton.

Traces of platinum, iridium, osmium, omiridium and other metals of the royal group, as well as nickel, cobalt, tin, zinc, galena and uranium, also have been discovered.

Builds Sidewalk Fence, Held As Law Breaker

Charged with building a fence close to the front line of his lot at 1167 Allen avenue, in a zone where a twenty-five-foot setback ordinance is in effect, W. A. Keen, 1146 Thompson avenue, was arrested today and his trial was set for July 24 before Police Judge F. H. Lowe. Keen has retained Attorney George H. King to defend him.

Glendale Community Co-operation Will Make Glendale Business Better

LET'S TRADE IN GLENDALE!

It's Good Business to Patronize Local Merchants

Glendale Dollars Should Be Spent in Glendale. Each of These Progressive Glendale Concerns Are Backing the Trade-in-Glendale Movement. They Merit Your Patronage. Get Back of This, Too!

Plenty of Money In Glendale. Let's Keep It Here

Merchants and Buyers Both Have Obligations to Community

The Glendale merchant wants your trade. Is he selfish in asking it? He is in business for personal gain, it is true. You may think you do not owe him anything, but this is not a personal matter. It is a community problem and both you and the merchant have obligations to the community.

In the first place it is his duty to stock up with the quality and kind of merchandise he thinks you will want. He must buy so he can sell to you as low as you can buy the same goods elsewhere, and he must provide the service and the surroundings that you expect when you buy. Good business on your part demands that you do the best you can. Glendale merchants have recognized this truth and now use business methods that tend to draw and hold trade.

So your merchant now has a neat, modern, not to say luxurious, place of business; he can show you a variety of styles; his clerks are capable and courteous; his place of business is an asset to the community. And now he feels that he has a right to ask your trade. He can give you as good as you can get elsewhere for the money and save you the expense and inconvenience of going out of town.

Personally you owe this man nothing, but from the standpoint of your duty to the community you owe him your trade. Without it he cannot keep his place up to the necessary completeness and efficiency. Without your business he cannot run a first-class store, and first-class stores are essential in a home community like Glendale. By patronizing him you help him keep his business up to par, and you keep your money in Glendale where it has a chance to come back to you again.

KEEP COOL

I am going to run the article on suggestions for hot weather and heat prostration that I wrote last year. It is hotter today (when I write this) than it was the day I wrote them; there has been no change in our ideas about keeping cool, so I don't see why I should exert myself to rewrite them. (You will find one of the rules gives me authority to do this.)

Here is one thing I want to add: Don't be worried if during the periods when you perspire freely, you pass much less urine than usual. The reason for the scanty urine is that more than the usual share of water is eliminated by the perspiration.

Hint No. 1.—Discard all clothing that the law will permit. This applies to children and babies particularly.

It's hot! On June 5 there were 22 deaths reported from heat prostration in New York. The excess heat is not the real cause of death in these heat prostrations. The heat simply is the last straw. It is usually found that those who are said to die from heat prostration, really have some organic trouble, notably weak hearts, for no healthy person ever succumbed to the ordinary hot weather. Men are most often afflicted. I wonder how often these men have tobacco hearts? I wonder how many of them have hearts weakened from prolonged overweight? So here's:

Hint No. 2.—Cut out smoking and reduce your overweight.

Hint No. 3.—Overweight or underweight, eat less meat, very much less, and more salads and fruit. The high protein foods have more waste heat to be eliminated by the body, than the other foods, therefore they make you warmer. Eat less meat, fish, egg whites, and also cut down the rich pastries and fatty and oily foods. Get your protein in milk and cheese, preferably cottage cheese. (You should always get part of your protein from these because they are the highest in biological, or life, value). Don't eat large meals and don't overeat at any one meal. If you are thin and get hungry between meals take some fruit or milk. (When I say "milk" I mean any milk—buttermilk, skim milk, plain milk, malted milk, etcetera.) Drink plentifully of water. Twelve to fifteen glasses is recommended by Tice. Iced water is all right, with your meals or between meals, if you drink it slowly; and it is certainly a hundred times more refreshing. Remember my caution—drink it SLOWLY; don't gulp it down two or three glasses of iced water at a time. It may be such a shock to your solar plexus that it may give uncomfortable, or worse than uncomfortable results. Be very moderate with tea and coffee, and take no alcoholic drinks.

Hint No. 4.—Take a cold bath a dozen times a day if you can. If you have a weak heart, your physician may tell you to be careful of this advice. Any quick shock has to be avoided in such cases. But you can take cold sponge baths.

Hint No. 5.—If you have an electric fan, keep it busy. Air in motion is more cooling.

Hint No. 6.—If you have to be out of doors, keep on the shady side of the street, or carry a sun umbrella.

Hint No. 7.—Unless you are pretty vigorous, don't run after street cars. Do as little work as possible.

Hint No. 8.—If it is so hot at night that you can't sleep, wring a towel out of cold water and lay over yourself. The evaporation of the water cools you off.

I don't take cold by any of these measures I am advising, and I don't believe you will. (If it is as hot when this article appears as it is while I am writing it, a death from a cold wouldn't seem disagreeable.)

Hint No. 9.—If you are a woman have your hair bobbed if you haven't already. It's comfortable, clean, comely and cool, takes off years from your apparent age, and is not a fad, but a revolution. It has come to stay. What more can you ask? (Still true!)

Hint No. 10.—Don't get excited about the heat. Don't think heat. Keep cool with—calmness.

Those are all my rules for the hot weather that I can think of right now.

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Berry Cream Tart: Either strawberries, blackberries or raspberries may be used in this pie. Begin the tart by making pastry as for an ordinary pie. Line a deep pie pan with this pastry, reserving enough for a crust. Arrange the berries in layers with granulated sugar sprinkled thickly between each layer. Fill the pan quite full, adding considerable of the berry juice. Then put on the crust and make a slit in the center of the top, as well as jabbing in several other places to allow for escape of steam. Bake as you would any berry pie. But when it is done, pour the following cream mixture through the slit in the center of the crust and serve the pie very cold with confectioner's sugar sprinkled on top:

Cream Mixture (to be added when tart is baked): Heat a cupful of thin cream (or rich top milk) to the boiling point, and stir into it one tablespoon of cornstarch, which has previously been mixed to a paste with a little cold milk; stir till smooth then also add one tablespoon of sugar and white of two eggs beaten light. Boil this sauce three or four minutes and pour it through the center slit in the tart's crust and stand the tart aside to become cold.

Prune Gems: Soak one-half cup of prunes overnight, and in the morning drain and put over the fire in a very little water to cook till plump, but not really soft. Now remove their stones and chop finely. Stir them into the following mixture: Sift together one cup of wheat bread flour, one-half teaspoon of salt and three-quarters of a teaspoon of baking soda, then add one and one-fourth cups of chopped walnut meats. Pack this uncooked mixture in a bread pan and mix with one-third cup of molasses. Turn the batter into hot, buttered gem pans and bake in a hot oven for twenty-five minutes.

Nut Wafers: (Contributed by Mrs. F. G.): Cream together two cups of brown sugar and one cup of either butter or vegetable oil; add two beaten but unseparated eggs, and stir in three and one-half cups of flour sifted with one teaspoon of soda and one-half teaspoon of salt. Last add one cup of chopped walnut meats. Pack this uncooked mixture in a bread pan and let stand overnight to harden. In the morning cut it in small squares, turn out, and bake on a greased cookie sheet in a hot oven for about ten minutes.

Tomorrow—Answers to Inquiries

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Buddy Newby, age 11, claims the championship of the trip, having landed the first, last, largest and largest number of the catch, having thirty-eight to his credit. A large number of their neighbors and friends enjoyed a fish dinner Saturday night as a consequence.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

YOUR HANDS

With hands, as with eyes, their great beauty lies in expression. It never seems to occur to some women to wonder whether their hands are expressive or not. They think a beautiful hand must be white and quite uselessly small and fragile. Once, it is true, that was the ideal of beauty, the standard is changing. We no longer admire the helpless type of femininity.

Your hands must look well cared for, but that is an easy matter in these days of labor-saving devices and scientifically prepared beauty lotions. We won't talk manicures today, we'll assume you know all about manicuring, that you do everything in your power to have the skin of the hands smooth and white, the nails pink and perfectly polished. The next point of consideration is, how do you use your hands?

An actress has graceful hands because she knows how to use them. You also can learn to use yours. Hands should express something when you talk, or they should lie still, as much out of sight as possible; they should at least, suggest repose for the worst thing in the world is to see restless, fidgeting hands whose movements mean nothing. I think the best thing to do is to watch your own hands until you are conscious of their good and bad points. If they are restless, learn to keep them still, or if they must have something to play with, give them something useful. During the war hands were graceful because they were busy, women who were knitting were sure to have graceful looking hands.

You can't always be knitting, but your hands can always be occupied. They had better play with a dainty hand bag or a fan during evening parties than to fuss or fidget with the hair or some useless dress ornament. Practice letting them lie idle and gracefully relaxed when you are talking.

Blue Eyes—There is no reason why you should try to reduce the size of the bust as you will not be out of proportion when you are fully grown. You are only like many other girls who develop so rapidly that no one thinks anything of their lack of good proportion.

Miss E. L. S.—Bleach the hair on your arms by using peroxide several times a week, after bathing and while the hair is still damp. A long period of such bleaching will often weaken the hair so that it thins out or dies altogether. If you use a depilatory, you will coarsen the hair just as you did by cutting it.

Are They Graceful?

Tomorrow—Answered Letters

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Tells Betrothal

The engagement of Miss Hazel Campbell, daughter of Mrs. Carrie Campbell, to Jack Baker of Bakersfield was announced Saturday afternoon at a delightful betrothal party given by Miss Campbell, her sister Miss Garnette Campbell and their mother at their attractive home, 1412 South Brand boulevard. Assisting them were Mrs. Joe Campbell and daughter Josephine of Los Angeles, and Zanita and Betty Campbell of Berkeley. The wate of the wedding was not made known, but it will be an event of the late summer.

Scotch broom and other summer flowers in shades of yellow were used in artistic decoration.

Announcement of the engagement was made during a clever program by pupils of Miss Campbell, who is head of the Little Players' studio. Adele Loyd, Thalia Wilson and Bernice Gardner, in Colonial costume, presented the sketch, "The Fan and Two Candlesticks." The sequel to the romance was a wedding ceremony, with Thalia Wilson as minister, Adele Loyd as bridegroom, Bernice Gardner, bride; Betty Campbell, maid of honor; Olga Pade, Gwendolyn Merrill, bridesmaids; Jean Campbell, flower girl; Kemper Campbell, jr., ring bearer. The wedding march was played by Zanita Campbell. When the names of Miss Campbell and Mr. Baker were used in the ceremony, the guests learned the secret.

The program also included songs by Janet Ord, accompanied by Zanita Campbell and Dorothy Teames. She sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Little Old Garden," pantomimed by Adele Loyd and Bernice Gardner. Josephine Campbell, accompanied by her mother, also entertained with songs. Dances on the lawn were by Adele Loyd, Gwendolyn Merrill, Zanita Campbell and Betty Campbell, who gave the minuet, and Jean Campbell an interpretative dance.

Following the program the guests enjoyed an informal hour in the spacious living room, on the porch, in the garden and in the patio. Buffet refreshments were served.

Among the guests were: Miss Grace Van Telburg, Mrs. Maron Hagenburger, Jane Van Oosting, Mrs. Berkeley Bryant, Miss May Lahey, Miss Mary Smith, Miss Leafy Finch, Mrs. Loyd Loyd, Miss Irene Geib, Miss Dorothy Donnelly, Mrs. Pearl Fleming, Mrs. Frank Sniff, Mrs. E. In Church Garden

A garden party for men of First Congregational church was given Friday night in the garden of the church by members of the Women's auxiliary, Mesdames H. W. Yarick, Arthur C. Terrill, O. E. Von Oven, J. H. Budd, Louis Sipple and C. F. Parker being hostesses. The affair was attended by seventy-five people and proved a delightful success, closing the social activities of the auxiliary for the summer months. Community singing was enjoyed under the direction of D. Ripley Jackson, with Miss Lila Litch playing the accompaniment. Mrs. Lucy Williams gave vocal selections with Miss Litch as accompanist. Mrs. L. G. Sherman also gave a group of songs, with her mother, Mrs. Alma Gibbs, as accompanist. Arthur C. Terrill entertained with sleight-of-hand performances and also gave humorous readings. Games were played later under direction of the hostesses. Light refreshments were served.

Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Pennington of 615 South Pacific avenue are planning to celebrate their second wedding anniversary with a dinner party on Wednesday, July 1. The occasion is also Mr. Pennington's birthday.

Home Wedding

Miss Marion Deaton became the bride of John M. Fletcher of 514 North Glendale avenue, at a ceremony performed Saturday night, June 27, 1925, at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Deaton, 520 North Glendale avenue. Rev. Maurice M. Johnson, pastor of Broadway Methodist church, south, performed the ring ceremony in the presence of thirty relatives and friends.

An improvised arch decorated with white sweetpeas and roses formed a pretty background for the wedding. A large white wedding bell hung from the center of the arch.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white chiffon dress trimmed with ostrich feather and rhinestones. For headdress she wore a bandeau of natural orange blossoms, her bouquet was a shower of bride's roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Harold Sanborn of Alhambra, was matron of honor. She wore rose pink georgette and carried a bouquet of sweetpeas in pastel shades. O. C. Fletcher of San Diego, brother of Mr. Fletcher, was best man.

Miss Marcile Woodmancy of Glendale, played the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" as the bridal party entered. O. C. Fletcher sang "I Love You Truly" preceding the ceremony.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held, during which buffet refreshments were served. The wedding cake was decorated with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher left later for Lake Tahoe, where they will spend their honeymoon. After August 1 they will be at home to their friends in their new home at Glendora.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Fletcher of San Diego, and Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Little and son Paul of Long Beach.

Mrs. Fletcher is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deaton and came here two years ago from Alhambra, where the family had resided for four years. She has been employed as stenographer for the Lincoln Casualty Co., Los Angeles. Mr. Fletcher is the son of Mrs. Leon E. David of Honolulu, and came to Glendale a year ago from San Diego. He is employed by the Lacer Air Compressers of Los Angeles.

Law Club Lunch

The second annual luncheon of the Parliamentary Law club of Glendale, was held Friday at the Kopper Kettle tea room, and will be recorded in club history as fourth successful social affair the organization has held during the first two years of its activity. Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, popular club president, assisted by Mrs. A. H. Brown, made all plans for the luncheon, and many compliments are due them for the enjoyment of the occasion.

Beautiful summer roses from the garden of Mrs. Stewart, were floral features on the tables. Informality was emphasized throughout the luncheon hour, members and guests enjoying visiting, and later listening to Mrs. Greenwalt pay poetic tribute to those present. Responses were both serious and humorous. Mrs. A. H. Brown paid tribute to Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president of Glendale federation, Parent-Teacher association. Mrs. R. N. Stryker gave a poem, and also a toast to retiring officers. This toast was followed by the presentation of flowers to Mrs. Greenwalt and to Mrs. P. S. McNutt, who will be club instructor next year.

Mrs. Ethel Stanley of Pasadena, well-known radio entertainer, was a guest of Mrs. Ella Richardson, and entertained with selections on her piano accordion.

Special guests were: Miss Eva Daniels, publicity chairman of the Tuesday Afternoon club, and Miss Guila Darling, noble grand of Glendale Rebekah lodge. Others present were: Mesdames Greenwalt, Grace Carpenter, Hugh Marron, P. S. McNutt, A. H. Brown, O. H. Spradling, W. G. Lauderdale, R. N. Stryker, John Robert White, Jr., Arthur Franklin, Ella W. Richardson, Ethel Stanley, Estella Stevenson, R. W. Bogen, J. W. Mair, Harper, Stewart, Musser, Wilson, Lang, Gardner, Small, H. S. Croft, H. H. Harris, Whitelaw, W. E. Routt, Ross, Van Loon, Misses Eva Daniels, Millikan, Dorothy Watson, Munn and Katherine V. Sinks.

The next meeting of the club will be at 10 o'clock the first Friday morning in July at Harvard High school.

The HOUSE Of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON

Protected By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"That last night," Ann replied. "He had been standing opposite to me on the other side of the trente-et-quarante table. He saw that I had been losing."

"Yes," said Hanaud, nodding his head. "He thought that the opportune moment had come."

He extended his arms and let his hands fall against his thighs. He was like a doctor presented with a hopeless case. He turned half aside from Ann with his shoulders bent and his troubled eyes fixed upon the marble squares of the floor. Jim could not but believe that he was at this moment debating whether he should take the girl into custody. But Betty intervened.

"You must not be misled, Monsieur Hanaud," she said quickly. "It is true no doubt that Monsieur Boris mentioned the subject to Ann for the first time that night. But I had already told both my aunt and Monsieur Boris that I should like a friend of my own age to live with me and I had mentioned Ann."

Hanaud looked up at her doubtfully.

"On so short an acquaintance, Mademoiselle?"

Betty, however, stuck to her guns.

"Yes. I liked her very much from the beginning. She was alone. It was quite clear that she was of our own world. There was every good reason why I should wish for her. And the four months she has been with me have proved to me that I was right."

She crossed over to Ann with a defiant little nod at Hanaud, who responded with a cordial grin and dropped into English.

"So I can push that into my pipe and puff it, as my dear Ricardo would say. That is what you mean? Well, against loyalty, the whole world is powerless." As he made Betty a friendly bow. He could hardly have told Betty in plainer phrase that her intervention had averted Ann's arrest; or Ann herself that he believed her guilty.

Every one in the hall understood him in that sense. They stood foolishly looking here and there and not knowing where to look; and in the midst of their discomfort occurred an incongruous little incident which added a touch of the bizaare. Up the two steps to the open door came a girl carrying a big oblong cardboard milliner's box. Her finger was on the bell, when Hanaud stepped forward.

"There is no need to ring," he said. "What have you there?"

The girl stepped into the hall and looked at Ann.

"It is Mademoiselle's dress for the ball tomorrow night. Mademoiselle was to call for a final fitting but did not come. But Madame Grolin thinks that it will be all right." She laid the box upon a chest at the side of the hall and went out again.

"I had forgotten all about it," said Ann. "It was ordered just before Madame died, and tried on once."

Hanaud nodded.

"For Madame Le Vay's masked ball, no doubt," he said. "I noticed the invitation card on the chimney-piece of Mademoiselle's sitting-room. And in what character did Mademoiselle propose to go?"

Ann startled them all. She flung up her head, while the blood rushed into her cheeks and her eyes shone.

"Not Madame de Brinvillers, Monsieur, at all events," she cried.

Even Hanaud was brought up with a start.

"I did not suggest it," he replied coldly. "But let me see!" and in a moment while his face was flushed with anger his hands were busily untying the tapes of the box.

Betty stepped forward.

"We talked over that little dress, together, Monsieur, more than a month ago. It is meant to represent a water-lily."

"What could be more charming?" Hanaud asked, but his fingers did not pause in their work.

"Could suspicion betray itself more brutally?" Jim Frobisher wondered. What could he expect to find in that box? Did he imagine that this Madame Grolin, the milliner, was an accomplice of Waberski's, too? The episode was ludicrous with a touch of the horrible. Hanaud lifted off the lid and turned back the tissue-paper. Underneath was seen a short crepe de chine frock of a tender vivid green with a girdle of gold and a great gold rosette at the side. The skirt was stiffened to stand out at the hips, and it was bordered with a row of white satin rosettes with golden hearts. To complete the dress there were a pair of white silk stockings with fine gold clocks and white satin shoes with single straps across the insteps and little tassels of brilliants where the straps buttoned, and four gold stripes at the back round the heels.

Hanaud felt under the frock and around the sides, replaced the lid, and stood up again. He never looked at Ann Upcott. He went straight across to Betty Harlowe.

"I regret infinitely, Mademoiselle, that I have put you to so much trouble and occupied so many hours of your day," he said with a good deal of feeling. He made her a courteous bow, took up his hat and stick from the table on which he had laid it, and made straight for the hall door. His business in the Maison Grenelle was to all appearances finished.

But Monsieur Bex was not content. He had been nursing his suggestion for nearly half an hour. Like a poem it demanded utterance.

"Monsieur Hanaud!" he called; "Monsieur Hanaud! I have to tell you about a box of matches."

"Aha!" Hanaud answered, stopping alertly. "A box of matches! I will walk with you towards your office, and you shall tell me as you go."

Monsieur Bex secured his hat and stick in a great hurry. But he had time to throw a glance of pride towards his English colleague. "Your suggestion about the treasure room was of no value, my friend. Let us see what I can do!" The pride and the airy wave of the hand spoke the unspoken words. Monsieur Bex was at Hanaud's side in a moment, and talked volubly as they passed out of the gates into the street of Charles-Robert.

Betty turned to Jim Frobisher.

"Tomorrow, now that I am once more allowed to use my motor car, I shall take you for a drive and show you something of our neighborhood. This afternoon—you will understand, I know—I belong to Ann."

UNCLE WIGGILY

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SKY ROCKET

"What are you going to do for Fourth of July, my dear?" asked Uncle Wiggily's new wife of him one morning a few day before the glorious holiday.

"Well, I suppose I shall go off adventuring, and see if I can run fast enough to get away from the Bob Cat or the Fox," answered the bunny gentleman. "That's what I generally do on a holiday."

"Please don't do that this Fourth of July," begged Mrs. Longears. "All our little boy and girl rabbits have been teasing me to ask you to stay home and help them have fun. Scooter and Tooter want you to shoot off a cannon. Jingle and Jangle think it would be nice if you would burn some red fire. Skipper and Nipper would like to see you light a Roman candle. Really you ought to do something."

"I shall!" cried Uncle Wiggily in his jolly voice. "I'll make a fine Fourth of July for the little bunnies. But we must be very careful. Fireworks are dangerous for children. I shall set them all off myself, while you keep Skipper and Nipper and Jingle and Jangle and all the others in a safe place."

"Yes, I'll do that," promised the rabbit lady.

"Then," said her husband, "I'll hop off now and start getting the fireworks. First I shall buy a skyrocket and bring that home. I'll hide it under the hollow stump bungalow where the little bunnies can't find it to set it off ahead of time. Tomorrow I'll buy a Roman candle and then the next day some red fire. Oh, we shall have a glorious Fourth of July!"

"I begin to believe you," laughed the rabbit lady. So while the little bunnies were out eating their breakfast of clover in the field, Uncle Wiggily hopped off to the skyrocket store.

It did not take Mr. Longears long to buy one of the largest and finest skyrockets which the monkey doodle gentleman had for sale.

"But aren't you buying your Fourth of July fireworks a little early?" asked the monkey. "It may go off ahead of time."

"I'm going to hide it under my bungalow," answered Uncle Wiggily. "None of the little rabbits will find it there. And tomorrow I'm going to come here and buy Roman candles."

Hopping back home, Mr. Longears peered around the corner of the bushes before hopping to his bungalow, to make sure none of the bunny boys or girls were watching. Seeing none of them, the rabbit hid the big skyrocket under the front porch steps and then he twinkled his pink nose.

"The rocket will be safe there until Fourth of July," he said to himself, and then he hopped away to look for an adventure.

Now, as it happened, Scooter and Tooter, two of the bunny boys, were playing ball, a little later, near the bungalow. Scooter tossed the ball, but Tooter missed it and the ball rolled beneath the stoop.

"I'll crawl in and get it," cried Tooter, and when he had wiggled under the porch he saw the skyrocket. "Oh Scooter!" he cried. "Come here! Look what I found! It's a skyrocket from last year, I guess!"

The two little rabbit boys pulled out the big rocket. While they were looking at it up ran Jingle, one of the girls. She had a box of matches which she had just brought from the store for Nurse Jane.

"I'll light the skyrocket and see what happens!" cried Jingle. Scooter and Tooter cried out, telling her not to do this, but before they could stop her Jingle struck a match and lighted the fuse of the skyrocket. It began to hiss and Tooter dropped it just in time. A moment later, with a swish and a roar the rocket shot up toward the sky.

"Wow! See it go!" cried Scooter as Nurse Jane and Mrs. Longears and all the other little bunnies run up to see it. And then the rocket dipped down toward the ground and rushed through a tangle of bushes and, just as it did so, out of the bushes ran the Fuzzy Fox, with his tail between his legs howling:

"Don't burn me! Don't burn me! I'll go away! I won't nibble anybody!"

And then Uncle Wiggley came hopping along crying to know who had set off his rocket.

"I did it," confessed Jingle. "But it's a good thing I did, Daddycums, for it scared away the Fox who was hiding to nibble your ears! Wasn't it a good thing I lighted the rocket, even if it isn't Fourth of July, Daddycums?"

"Well, yes, I guess so!" laughed the bunny gentleman. And if the box of crackers doesn't fall into the bowl of milk when they're trying to jump over the supper table, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's Roman candles.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE FOR YOUNGSTERS

HOW TO SOLVE PUZZLE

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE No. 3915

WHEREAS, by a Trust Deed, dated November 6, 1923, recorded November 15, 1923, in book 3364, page 127, of Official Records of Los Angeles County, California, John J. Graf, a widower, did grant and convey the property therein and hereinafter described to the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY, as trustee, to secure among other things, the payment of one certain promissory note in favor of Malcolm N. Smith, and other sums of money advanced and interest thereon; and

WHEREAS, there has been a default in the payment of the monthly installment of principal due and payable on said note May 1, 1924, and all subsequent monthly installments of principal due and payable thereon, and a default in the payment of the monthly installment of interest due and payable thereon, December 1, 1923, and all subsequent monthly installments of interest due and payable thereon, and by reason of such defaults said Malcolm N. Smith, the owner and holder of said note and trust deed, in accordance with the provisions thereof, on to-wit, March 17, 1925, exercised his option and declared the full amount of the indebtedness secured by said trust deed, immediately due and payable, there being the total sum of $15,989.17 now due and unpaid; and

WHEREAS, in accordance with the provisions of Section 2924 of the Civil Code of California, said Malcolm N. Smith, the owner and holder of said note and trust deed, on March 19, 1925, caused to be recorded in the office of the County Recorder of said County a notice of such default in the payment of principal and interest and of his election to cause the property described in said trust deed to be sold, in accordance with the provisions thereof, to satisfy said obligation, which notice of default and election to sell was duly recorded in Book 3888, Page 333, Official Records of said Los Angeles County; and

WHEREAS, said Trust Deed provides that, if there is a default in the payment of any of the sums secured thereby, upon application of the holder of said note, the trustee shall give notice and sell so much of the property as shall be necessary to satisfy the indebtedness secured thereby.

WHEREAS, said Malcolm N. Smith, by reason of the default in payments as stated, has requested the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY to give notice and to sell said property, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to sell, to pay all the indebtedness secured and expenses incurred necessary to the execution of said trust.

NOW, THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY by virtue of the authority vested in it as Trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash in gold coin, on the 18th day of July, 1925, at the hour of 11 o'clock A. BEST SELLER ON COSMO PROGRAM

'Who Cares,' With Dorothy Devore, William Haines, Appears On Screen

Dorothy Devore is playing the lead in the Columbia picture, "Who Cares," showing today at the Cosmo theatre, with William Haines in support. "Our Gang" is a comedy feature accompanying the main picture. Tonight the Country Store will be held and lots of groceries and other valuable articles will be given away.

"Who Cares" is the film version of Cosmo Hamilton's popular best seller of the same name. When the book came out it was read by millions of people. Miss Devore's rise to stardom is the result of a number of years of conscientious effort. She has appeared in many types of productions for a number of companies.

Well Known Stars Play

In this present production she plays with a number of well known stars. Among them are William Haines, who plays opposite her; Lloyd Whitlock, Charlie Murray, Ralph Lewis, Beverly Bayne, Wanda Hawley, Viola Vale, Vera Lewis, William Austin, Carrie Clark Ward and others.

The direction of this picture is in the very capable hands of David Kirkland. He has held most faithfully to the script so that not one bit of the value of Cosmo Hamilton's story will be lost in the picture.

BRILLIANT ARRAY OF ACTORS SEEN

'Zander' Cast Includes Many Film World Notables At Gateway Theatre

One of the most brilliant casts ever assembled to support a motion picture star is that which is seen with Marion Davies in her newest photoplay, "Zander the Great," a picturization of Salisbury Fields' stage success of the same name, which opened at the Gateway theatre on Sunday.

As Mamie, heroine of "Zander the Great," Miss Davies is surrounded by a cast of noted players that sounds like the blue book of filmdom. Among them are Holbrook Blinn of "The Bad Man" fame and who also was featured with the Cosmopolitan star in "Yolanda" and "Janice Meredith," and Harrison Ford, who played opposite Miss Davies in "Little Old New York" and "Janice Meredith."

Others in Cast

Others in the cast include the following: Hobart Bosworth, Harry Myers, George Siegmann, Richard Carle, Harry Watson, Olin Howland, Hedda Hopper, Emily Fitzroy and Baby Jack Huff.

George Hill directed "Zander the Great." It is a Cosmopolitan production, released by Metro-Goldwyn.

Absorbing

Percy Marmont does some of best work in "A Woman's Faith," now showing at Glendale theatre.

An absorbing and unusual story, and a splendidly acted picture combined with direction of the highest order have made of "A Woman's Faith," Universal Jewel production which opened yesterday at the Glendale theatre, one of the best in recent months.

In addition to Percy Marmont's fine work in the role of Donovan Steele, the picture reveals further proof of the sterling qualities of Alma Rubens, who gives to the part of Neree Caron, the heroine, a convincing interpretation of the lofty spirit that the author instilled into this young French-Canadian girl.

"A Woman's Faith" is the screen adaptation of Clarence Buddington Kelland's sensational story, "Miracle," which created such a furore when it appeared as a serial in the Ladies' Home Journal.

As Cluny, the detective, who uses his power to force his attentions upon Neree, Jean Hersholt finds himself cast in another of those "heavy" roles, which he does well. Then there is the inimitable Zasu Pitts, whose rapid progress to fame is given added impetus by the role of Blanche. Hughie Mack, the rotund comedian, is the Francois of the play. Other favorites whose work deserve special mention are Andre de Beranger, as Leandre Turcot; Rose Rosanova, as Delima Turcot; William H. Turner, as Xavier Caron; Cesare Gravina, as Odilon Turcot, and Calvin Roberts as Anesime.

Edward Laemmle, who directed, has made full use of the opportunities it presented for picturesque and beautiful sets. His reproduction of the famous Church of St. Anne de Beaupre, in Canada, is so true that it has deceived even those who have visited the famous shrine. It is in this set that Marmont and Miss Rubens do some of the best work of their careers.

TEACHER IS HONORED

Miss Hedwig Bonnekemper, who has been residing in Glendale while teaching in Los Angeles, and is leaving for her home at Long Beach, was honored Friday night at an informal affair given at 342 West Maple street, where she has made her home. Five-hundred was the diversion of the evenig. Refreshments were served at a late hour. There were present Mesdames Josephine Woolsey, Grace Chobe, Dorothy Schmid and Misses None Pete, Helen Torbett, Muriel Gambrill and Mabel Evarts.

HEARING IS SET

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The hearing of Mrs. Dora Howard and Mrs. Elsie Lotte in connection with the death of Albert Anderson, U. S. customs guard, was set in police court today for Wednesday, July 1.

MOVE IN CASA VERDUGO

Mr. and Mrs. James Farrel have moved from 1156 North Central avenue to 530 West Colorado street, Casa Verdugo.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, June 29.—Thomas Wells, 1030 Cypress avenue, was held up and robbed of $15 and a watch by two highwaymen, who waylaid him on the Dark Canyon road, he reported to police here.

William E. Roskam was elected president of the Valley Boosters' association here and John A. Sommers was named vice-president.

Sewer laterals in three streets have been completed to the upper end of Burbank. Flush tanks are being installed this week to serve residences on Olive, Angeleno and Tujunga avenues.

Opponents of the annexation move to be voted upon here tomorrow will hold a giant parade through the Burbank streets tonight. The parade will form at 6:30 o'clock on Magnolia avenue, near the Southern Pacific tracks. A band has been obtained to lead. Fireworks and 200 pounds of red fire will be used for illumination.

Final arrangements have been completed for the local campaign to raise Burbank's quota of the $5,000,000 American Legion fund, to be used for the care of disabled ex-service men, widows and orphans.

Mrs. Harriet Greenman, 232 Angeleno avenue, has left for an extended trip to Canada and points in the northern part of the United States.

PHOENIX PEOPLE HERE

Mrs. Montgomery and son, of Phoenix, Ariz., are visiting Mrs. Montgomery's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Young, 1156 North Central avenue, Casa Verdugo.

CHURCHMEN LOSE FIRST GAME, 10-6

Glendale Creamery Players Celebrate Victory As First Round Ends

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

The Christian church moved over and made room for the Glendale Creamery in the cellar championship Saturday when the milkmen beat the churchmen 10 to 6 in the final Twilight league game of the first round. If all the customers of the Glendale Creamery fared as well as the scorekeeper did, they had plenty of rich cream for the coffee yesterday morning, thanks to Smith McMullin.

The churchmen started out like they were going to wallop the cream peddlers in great style. They went scoreless the first inning, but put over a couple of runs in the second, and added three in the third.

The milkmen went to bat in the fourth with the score 5 to 0 against them and proceeded to mop up. They took kindly to the offerings of Bates, youthful hurler for the churchmen, and gathered three runs off four hits. They blanked the churchmen in the last half of the fourth and pounded out five hits in the fifth for seven runs.

McMullin, although put next to last on the batting list, did the heavy stick work for the milkmen. He smashed out three hits in four times to bat, one of them a double, and stole a couple of bases. Besides bringing in one run, he drove in three, enough to beat the churchmen.

H. Malloy, playing center field for the churchmen, gathered in four flies, while Thompson, left fielder for the churchmen, grabbed off five flies, three of them being hit out by Jordan. He spoiled a perfect day in the field when he dropped O. Malloy's liner in the third.

Worthington, right fielder for the creamery crew, pulled a big league one-handed catch when Mize hit to his garden in the third. Morotz worked behind the log for the cream peddlers in real big league style, too.

The entire crew of the Glendale Creamery shows worlds of class over their previous appearance and impressed spectators that when the end of the second round came they would be far from the bottom place.

This afternoon the second round will start with the Radios and the Firemen hooking up at Broadway field. Tomorrow afternoon the Huli Trucks and the Calla Lily teams meet. Wednesday will see the Postoffice and the Public Service teams on the field, and Thursday the Christian church will have a chance to get revenge over the Glendale Creamery.

ORANGE RECEIPTS

LINDSAY, Cal., June 29.—The small quantities of citrus fruit on the market are responsible for a net return to growers of Valencia oranges in this district of about $1,500,000 during the season just ended. Incomes ranged from $1000 to $2000 per acre.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Rogers Hornsby is a 10 to 1 shot to lead the National league in batting this season and if he keeps up his terrific hitting, he may even beat the league record of .438, made by Hugh Duffy, of the old Bostons.

Since the present week began, Hornsby has climbed above the .420 grade, almost to .430 and he shows no sign of slowing up. To surpass Duffy's mark would be a great achievement and Rogers weighted down by managerial cares, probably will not make it, but at least he is likely to get into the select .400 class.

The mark made by Duffy is not the best ever made in baseball. Tip O'Neil once held a record of .492 in the association but that was in the year when base on balls were counted as base hits. So really is the best.

There is not a right hand batter in either league who is so capable of beating Duffy's mark as Hornsby and the chap who runs closest to him is Harry Heilmann, of Detroit. If Hornsby can maintain his ratio of progress for the next six weeks, he should be hitting about .435 by then.

Hornsby is not a showy ball player and never will be. He does not swing like Babe Ruth and he is never likely to make a Ruthian home run record. But he will play much longer than Ruth and he will prove to be more valuable to his team in the long run.

The movement and general action of Hornsby are similar to those of Lajoie and Delehanty. He does things so easily it is hard to understand how he does them.

Some fans used to think that Lajoie was lazy. He moved over the ground so gracefully, cutting off hits which ordinary fielders could not reach and did it with such an easy, careless motion that he gave the impression of laziness.

Delehanty was much the same type. Del would swing at a ball at times with such an indifferent sort of a slam that it appeared to the novice that he did not care whether school kept or not. But likely as not that indifferent gesture would result in his knocking the ball out of the park.

Hornsby makes no false motion in batting or in fielding. He played good ball for Rickey all the time, in spite of reports that he did not always give Rickey his best. But Rickey was constantly being outguessed by rival managers. The fact that Hornsby was batting around .400 all the time should be a sufficient answer to those who say Hornsby "laid down" on his manager.

Long Jim Barnes Gives Putter Credit For Win

LONDON, June 29.—Long Jim Barnes today gave his old putter—rusty no longer—credit for its share in bringing the British open golf title back to America again.

"Tell my friends back in the states I used my rusty old putter—but I had it shined up," the new champion said. "I've been coming across for two seasons to see my mother and to win this championship," he added. "Now I've accomplished both purposes."

Barnes is a native of Cornwall, England, but is an American now.

Macdonald Smith, whose score placed him well out in front in the Prestwick tourney until his final round, was bitter in his comment on the crowds that thronged the course. It was estimated that as many as 15,000 tried to follow Smith in his final round.

All Teams Expect To Win In Next Series; Standings, Results Given

"We didn't go very strong during the first round, but just watch us during the second round."

This is the collective statement made by the managers of all teams in the Twilight league as the second round opens. That is, all teams speaking except the Huli Trucks, who finished the first round without a defeat, beating the Firemen on Friday, 9 to 6.

The Firemen finished in second place, with six wins and one defeat, having a percentage of .857. Next in line was the Public Service crew with five wins and two defeats, losing to the Huli Trucks and the Firemen.

Radios Tie Mailmen

The Radios and Postoffice teams tied for next position, each team winning three games and dropping four. The Radios lost to the Firemen, Christian church, Public Service and Huli Trucks, winning from the Postoffice, Calla Lily and Glendale Creamery. The Postoffice won from the Christian church, Calla Lily and Glendale Creamery.

The Calla Lily team does not share honors with any other outfit, having won two games and lost five. They won from the Christian church and the Glendale Creamery.

On the bottom of the list are the Christian church and the Glendale Creamery. Each team won one game and lost six, the churchmen beating the Radios, and the cream peddlers beating the Christian church.

Championship Series

The winner of first place for the first round will meet the league leaders of the second round in a three-game championship series after the schedule is finished. If the Huli Trucks win the second round, then the team which finished second in season percentage will oppose them. In the event two teams are tied for second place under such circumstances, a "little world's series" will be played.

The standings of the clubs at the end of the first round follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Huli Trucks	7	0	1.000
Firemen	6	1	.857
Public Service	5	2	.714
Radio	3	4	.429
Postoffice	3	4	.429
Calla Lily	2	5	.286
Glendale Creamery	1	6	.143
Christian Church	1	6	.143

The results of play for the first week follow:

May 11—Firemen, 7; Radios, 5.
May 12—Huli Trucks, 14; Calla Lily, 1.
May 13 — Glendale Creamery vs. Christian church, postponed, rain.
May 14—Public Service, 12; Postoffice, 1.

The results of play for the second week follow:

May 18—Huli Trucks vs. Firemen, no game.
May 19—Radios, 8; Postoffice, 1.
May 21—Calla Lily, 9; Christian church, 3.
May 22—Public Service, 9; Glendale Creamery, 3.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Oldtimers on the west coast who can hark back to the days of Eddie Hanlon remember him as a Pacific lightweight who at 17 was a real championship contender. The writer remembers him when he was 20, a keen-faced, dark-eyed, bright young lad, who nonetheless had absorbed the punches of a veteran, who had fought the best in the country and had failed of the title because he had been brought along too fast.

Westerners who are now acclaiming 17-year-old Jimmie McLarnin as a championship prospect fear lest the same fate befall him that befell Hanlon. The Belfast boy—he was really born on the old sod, a few miles from the famous Irish city—is just five months over the 17 mark.

Already he has been pitted against the toughest fighters that could be dug up in the west and only a few weeks ago he was called upon to face that rough Texan, Bud Taylor. Taylor won the decision, but Mac gave him a hard fight, particularly in the early rounds.

Now he is to face the rip-snorting Villa. Is he ripe for this test? Many good judges think not. An accurate appraisal of McLarnin at the present time places him as superlatively clever and a fairly hard puncher.

What he chiefly lacks is the stamina of mature growth. He starts well against the best of them and carries on at a fine clip for four or five rounds when the other man begins to get to him.

The California commissioners might well take a leaf from the New York book in the matter of safeguarding ambitious youngsters.

LEGION PLAYERS WIN EASY GAME

Beat Fraternal Brotherhood 5 to1; Johnson Hurls High Class Ball

Bob Johnson pitched the American Legion to an easy 5-to-1 victory over the Fraternal Brotherhood Sunday at the White Sox park. Johnson was the big noise in the Legion win from the first to the last frame, whiffing ten and setting the Fraternal Brotherhood down with three hits of the scratch variety, one a double by Brown which resulted in the losers' lone score. To make it a good day's work the elongated Legion twirler slammed out a circuit wallop that cleared the right field wall with several feet to spare.

The Legionnaries scored three in the opener on singles by "Chuck" Flanders and Leggett, Kazmark's double and a single by Johnson. In the third another marker was shoved over when Flanders again singled, Leggett advancing the runner to third on a sacrifice, followed by Kazmark's one-base bingle over short, sending Flanders over the pan. Bob Johnson's homer in the seventh added the final tally to the afternoon workout. Score:

Legion 301 000 100	5	10	0
Brotherh'd 010 000 000	1	3	2

Johnson and Baulkner; Brown, Thompson and Davis.

BASEBALL

After Vernon has bested the Portland Ducks in Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning games, the Beaver brigade came back in the afternoon and blanked the Tigers 2 to 0, the game being called in the seventh inning. The morning score was 7 to 6 in Vernon's favor. Los Angeles took both games at Sacramento while Salt Lake and the Seals each won a game. Seattle and Oakland also split a double header. Los Angeles comes home this week to play Vernon.

The Shell Oils got spilled again by the Pasadena Merchants, the team which broke the winning streak of the Oilers after they had won twenty-nine games. The Merchants drubbed the Oilers 3 to 1 yesterday. Elmer Reiger allowed only six hits, three of them coming in the ninth when the Oilers made their lone run.

The Los Angeles clerks beat the Long Beach Postoffice crew 9 to 4 at Long Beach yesterday. Coogan, hurler for the winners, fanned thirteen.

The Los Angeles Carriers defeated San Pedro postal workers, 8 to 4, at Ross Snyder field

It took the Gilmore Oilers ten innings to win from the Standard Oilers Saturday at Gilmore park, 5 to 4. Wallace pitched for the winners.

Two Women In Panic, Leap From Car, Hurt

Two women were injured when they became panic-stricken last night as the car in which they were riding was being towed to a service station. Mrs. W. N. Bott, 917 Orange Grove avenue, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. E. Bott, were confined to their beds today, the former with a badly sprained ankle and the latter with internal injuries.

Accompanied by their husbands the two women were on their way back from Little Rock, where they had spent Sunday when their car became out of order. While being towed to a garage the tow-car began to smoke from a defective wire. In a panic Mrs. C. E. Bott jumped from the moving auntomobile. The other woman in an effort to assist her sister-in-law also attempted to leave the car while it was still moving. She fell and sprained her ankle.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, June 29.—Almost any lawn tennis expert would have said that William Tilden's game had attained in the past two or three years a point where it would be impossible for him to improve. But having watched the champion in several matches, this year, the writer firmly believes that he has accomplished this apparently insuperable feat.

His game, when he really sets out to play for all he is worth, had been amazing but now the spectator who observes the easy, flitting grace with which he combines the veriest abandon in hitting with utter accuracy is actually dazed.

There never was a lawn tennis player like Tilden, and perhaps there will never be another, not in any event until the flashing Bill has become a legend.

Probably, since Tilden is temperamental and likes to enter an important match with the spectators in some doubt as to the outcome, he may let down a bit when the star begins to desert clay for turf, but he won't fool the wiseacres of the game who know that Tilden stands first—and there is no second.

Unlike most champions, Tilden has the imagination and the sensibilities to visualize all that it means to be an outstanding protagonist,—all the concommitant colors of the match in which he plays. He never forgets the spectators, knows to the last detail the mood in which they come to see a champion perform. He never disappoints them. He plays the game as though it were a film drama on which he had to register many things other than superiority as a player.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The inevitable fork in the highway is dead ahead for Harry Wills, perennial challenger for the heavyweight title. He will reach the crossroads next Thursday night at the Polo grounds and the wrong turn will lead him on to the outer darkness of pugilism's forgotten.

There is only one way in which Wills can take the direct route to future esteem. He must knock Charley Weinert kicking before the end of fifteen rounds. Failure to do this will mean the definite passing of Harry Wills from serious consideration as a title contender.

It does not matter that the boys are not knocking Weinert over seven days a week or that Wills may smash his brittle hands in one of the early rounds. It has simply come to a show-down between Wills and the public. The latter is far from convinced that Wills is the man-eater his megaphone man claims him to be.

Except for the rather obvious fact that he has caused Dempsey to give him the wide detour for upwards of five years, Wills has accomplished little since his old barnstorming days with Sam Langford.

He should have stopped Firpo in three rounds, but the man with the bearded chest went the full twelve. He couldn't hurst Bartley Madden in fifteen rounds on a prior occasion and needed twelve to stop Clem Johnson, a second rater.

His more recent knockout record, in fact, is made up of such victims as Jeff Clark, Homer Smith, Tut Jackson, Kid Norfolk, Jack Thompson and other self-starting knockees, so to speak. Barring Langford, who was only a suggestion of the old Sam at the time, Wills has yet to beat or even meet a first class man.

He may be as good as some people claim, but if so, he has contrived to keep the matter a profound secret. Perhaps it is that his handlers have failed to get the best out of him. There are some who claim today that there is no one in the Wills camp at Southampton who knows how to train him for the impending issue.

They have criticised the fact that Wills has been sparring with big slow men who can get him nothing except a lot of playful mauling. Wills, they contend should be training for speed and the writer is inclined to agree with this view. Certainly he is strong enough normally without adding to his muscular power with a daily seance of mauling and wrestling.

If he lacks speed on Thursday night, Weinert will buck and wing at will while he pops Harry on what is technically known as the beezer. I have no illusions about Weinert in spite of the ballyhoo that has followed his alleged comeback. But if Wills is slow and Weinert fast, the bout is likely to go the limit.

SALVADORE MEETS O'BRIEN TUESDAY

Great Battle Scheduled For Vernon; Slugging Match In The Semi Wind-up

VERNON CARD

Tommy O'Brien vs. Phil Salvadore—135 pounds—10 rounds.
Sailor Billy Vincent vs. Pete Bross—152 pounds—10 rounds.
Earl Blue vs. Tom Kelly—165 pounds—6 rounds.
Jimmy Gould vs. Billy Quilter—118 pounds—4 rounds.
Dave Mustaffo vs. Tommy Bunch—135 pounds—4 rounds.

Phil Salvadore—sent against speed at Ascot—made a valiant fight for four rounds. But the pace Sammy Mandell set upset every plan Salvadore had made beforehand by which he expected victory. When the dance was over fans were asking each other "What's become of Sally?"

Can this Italian lightweight upset the cards against a harder hitting and slower moving fighter whom he meets Tuesday night at Vernon — Tommy O'Brien, the shrapnel kid? O'Brien floored Ace Hudkins and had won every round until the Nebraska Wildcat was disqualified. Will Tommy upset Sally as easily as he did Hudkins? The weight for the match is 135 pounds at 2 o'clock.

If the matches for the Ascot show had been drawn different with Mandell against Hudkins and O'Brien against Salvadore it is questionable whether Mandell and O'Brien would have been the survivors. Salvadore is much harder to hit than Hudkins—the latter being wide open. Ace's guard is his wild and don't-care attack. O'Brien has probably only fifty per cent of Mandell's flashy speed.

Punching Power

While much is made of O'Brien's knock 'em dead fist, the dope on Sally shows some punching power, too. The year 1923 was a big one for Phillip. He knocked out Bobby Ward in two rounds. He beat Pepper Martin twice, spilling some of the Pepper on the floor. He thumped Sid Barbarian and Sidney visited the canvas. He scored two points to one against Richie Mitchell. He defeated Dick Hoppe. Sally drew with Joe Benjamin once and lost once.

The worst things one can find in Salvadro's record is that he has a decidedly off night once in a while. Against a good fighter he is at his best. And with a third-rater he sometimes looks like a Class D fighter.

Two sluggers meet in the semi-windup. Sailor Billy Vincent and Pete Bross as the big fisted fellows. Vincent is a rough, long shoreman style of battler. Bross, a Montana miner, is right at home in a free-for-all. Earl Blue—student of Mike Gibbons and now in the stable of Le Roy and Petrolle—make his initial start in the special bout against Tom Kelly. Jack Hurley, manager of Blue, says that this 21-year-old kid can hit as hard as Paul Berlenbach. Blue has knocked out over half the boys he has fought.

OFFICERS FOR SCOT LODGE INSTALLED

Charter Members Of Local Chapter Are Greeted By Visiting Clans

Loyal Scots of many clans gathered in Glendale Saturday night at the I. O. O. F. hall to witness the installation of officers of Lady McDougall Lodge of Daughters of Scotia and the new organization of nineteen charter members was greeted with enthusiasm by visiting members.

Visitors of note among the three hundred or more present, were: Mrs. H. Wiley, of New York, grand sub-chief daughter, conductress of the initiation, and ten state officers, who assisted at the open installation.

Tea was served at 6 o'clock, with Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. P. T. Anderson, state deputy chief daughter, and Mrs. Taylor, of Los Angeles, local deputy officer, as guests. Initiation ceremonies followed with Mrs. Wiley as conductress.

Visiting Clans

At 8:30 o'clock the doors were opened to the visiting organizations, Clan Cameron with Chief McCrae, and piper, Alex McDougall, in the lead, and Lady Cameron Lodge, with Mrs. Oliphant, chief daughter, following; the two organizations well represented in numbers. Next came Lady Aberdeen lodge of Pasadena, with Mrs. Brownie, chief daughter, the second newest lodge, and Clan Gordon, with Chief Pettingree, and four pipers, both bringing large contingents; Clan McLean with Chief Mattier, of Moneta avenue, and Heather Bell lodge each sent nice delegations, with their pipers.

Next came formal installation of the following Glendale women of officers of Lady McDougall lodge: Mrs. David Wood Black, chief daughter; Mrs. T. G. McDougall, sub-chief daughter; Mrs. Agnes Allen, past-chief; Mrs. Bessie Morgan, financial secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Farner, recording secretary; Mrs. Harriet Myers, treasurer; Mrs. Isabel Chandler, chaplain; Mrs. McIntyre, conductress; Mrs. White, assisting conductress; Mrs. Elizabeth Nickoll, inner guard, and Mrs. Bessie Woods Morgan, pianist.

Have Grand March

At the conclusion of business, the entire crowd were lined up for a grand march, to the "skirling" of the bagpipes which was most inspiring, with the women in white and the clan members in gay colored kilts. Mrs. Black, chief daughter of the new lodge, wore a genuine McDougall tartan, a treasured possession of T. G. McDougall.

An hour of dancing followed, with every one entering with zest and merriment into the whirl of old-fashioned round dances, alternating with square dances, the schottische and Scotch reel.

Gifts Presented

Mrs. P. T. Anderson, state deputy chief daughter, presented the new lodge with some beautiful pieces of silver to be sold, and upon which they realized $34. They were also presented with a gift of $10, from each visiting lodge, altogether making a nice sum with which to start their treasury. At the close of the program the members of Lady McDougall lodge, presented Mrs. Wiley, grand subchief daughter, with a gold fountain pen; and Mrs. Anderson, state deputy chief daughter, with a bouquet of California flowers.

The first meeting of this lodge was held at the home of Mrs. David Woods Black, where preliminaries were arranged. The second meeting took place last week at the T. G. McDougall home, 128 West Elk avenue, and officers were elected. Women of Scotch descent are eligible to membership.

CONNECT P. E. SUBWAY IN GLENDALE

Work On Link Between City Line And Tunnel To Be Started Shortly

Installation of the track connection between the new Pacific Electric Glendale subway and the present Glendale line at First street and Glendale boulevard, will be started within the next few days, according to an announcement today by D. W. Pontius, vice-president and general manager of the company.

Following the laying of the connecting link the installation of ninety-pound rails through the tunnel will be started. Both rails and fittings are already on hand. The $120,000 power substation at First and Toluca street, built to supply additional power on account of heavy operations through the tunnel, has been completed and is now in service, supplying additional power for Hollywood and Glendale boulevards.

Excavation Progresses

Excavation of the site for the building and subway terminal, involving the removal of 100,000 yards of earth is about 55 per cent completed, according to Pontius. Forty-five trucks and three steam shovels are working sixteen hours daily in excavating the site to receive steel foundations, which have been fabricated and are ready for delivery and installation. Underpinning work on adjoining buildings is rapidly nearing completion and will be finished well in advance of excavation work.

Beginning this week electrical forces will begin the installation of trolley feeders and overhead catenary trolley wire construction, the catenary system of trolley support being an improved method of overhead construction. The power line is now being drawn into the tunnel.

Tunnel Arch Visible

The excavation through Olive street and former school property on the west side of the street approaching the eastern portal of the tunnel is nearing completion, about eight feet of tunnel arch now being visible.

This excavation is being made to care for steel and reinforced concrete structure leading from the rear of the terminal station to the portal or entrance of the tunnel.

Church Choir Picnic Held At Beach Town

Forty-four members of the Congregational church choir and their families joined in the annual church choir picnic held at the Palisades, Santa Monica, Saturday. A bathing party was followed by dinner on the beach. Sports and entertainment featured the program. A mock wedding with D. Ripley Jackson officiating as parson, brought forth much merriment. The party returned from the beach late Saturday night.

Police Storm House as Cat Flashes Light

'Twas the hour of midnight. All the folks were away. The house was dark. Then a light flashed on in the living room.

Lee Elting, 508 South Brand boulevard, was passing the A. R. Johnson home, 1325 Thompson avenue when the windows reflected the illumination within. Elting put two and two together and the answer was burglars. He notified the police department.

Armed to the teeth and with night clubs held handily, Lieutenant Nunn and Patrolman Larson crept up to the Johnson window. All was quiet within, but a light was burning. Using a police key, they entered by the front door, and found—

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

There may be considerable excitement this week-end with Fourth of July celebrations popping off the usual amount of Chinese fireworks, but

Montana residents are living in fear today whenever they pass under the brow of a mountain—after having been treated to several varieties of disturbances.

In the Gros Ventre, Jefferson and Gallatin river valleys, according to first reports from the meagerly populated section of the northwest, mountains have fallen into the streams, the first named river having been dammed to form two lakes three miles apart.

Communities of more or less consequence to Montana life have suffered heavy damage from earthquakes and relief trains have been rushed to these stricken areas which fortunately report but few casualties. It will be difficult, indeed, for small cities such as Three Forks to withstand the financial loss.

The center of the disturbance has been in the Jackson Hole country, notorious in fiction as "the bad lands of the west," and boasting a treacherous geological structure. Yellowstone park, with its geysers and old craters, which also was shaken up, gives evidence of seething subterranean mysteries of which we mortals actually know but little.

What will concern superstitious people more than an earthquake in Montana is the report of a flood on the slope of Mount Ararat, the selfsame landing place for Noah with his ark, according to Biblical statement.

Truth is, folks, this writer pleases to discuss catastrophes rather than the weather. It is very tolerable weather, if you have time and money to enjoy it. But if you have to change tires on the highway in the noonday sun, or hammer the pavements in a house-to-house canvass, well—

You may be justified in speaking of the weather in relative terms.

Relative terms brings to mind a criticism.

"Why don't you write what you think?" is the question ofttimes put to people privileged to give expression of their views.

Edgar Allen Poe, it is said, made the assertion that if people wrote what they thought, all of us would be in jail. And he wasn't wrong, either.

Take, for instance, those who purvey iconoclastic rot. The federal government, sooner or later, holds an accounting with them in terms of fines and prison sentences, much to the pleasure of those who are "pure of heart and thought."

But, whoever heard of a great moral publication, not subservient to the propaganda of any one class, clique or creed, that stayed out of bankruptcy proceedings? That's another means for suppression of "write what you think."

Certainly, it is justice! It works both ways.

So, like the plowboy, one has to gee a little, then haw a little, and tread as closely to the middle of the furrow as possible. Nothing more nor less than mental gymnastics!

An abbreviated style, very little on the subject other than a smile, combined with a lot of action, as long as it doesn't result in reaction—that's all!

WOMAN HURT FIGHTING FLAMES

Dr. Jessie A. Russell Taken To Hospital; Hands And Feet Are Burned

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, prominent Glendale realty broker, and well known California club woman, is a patient at Monte Sano hospital, Los Angeles, suffering with severe burns on her hands and feet, received Sunday morning in her apartment at 800 West Eighteenth street, Los Angeles, when she attempted to put out fire on window curtains, clothing and other articles.

Dr. Gerhard Kaemmerling of Glendale, who was called in consultation this morning, stated that Dr. Russell's left hand was most severely burned and will need treatment for a month. He added that it will probably be necessary for her to remain at the hospital two weeks.

Was Packing Trunk

The accident happened Sunday morning when Dr. Russell was packing her trunk preliminary to moving. A light wind blew a window curtain over a small gas stove, which was burning. Seeing the curtains flare up Dr. Russell pulled them down and threw them on the floor, where there were pieces of flimsy wearing apparel, papers and other articles that immediately caught fire. In her attempt to stamp the fire out she received her burns.

A division of the Los Angeles fire department was called but the fire was under control when they arrived. The apartment and Dr. Russell's belongings were slightly damaged from the fire and water.

Professor D. W. McCoy, principal of the Springfield High school at Springfield, Ill., arrived in Glendale Saturday and will spend the week visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. Shaffer, 1134 East Elk street. McCoy is a cousin of Mrs. Shaffer and this is his second visit to Glendale. He plans to leave after his visit here for Portland, Ore., Salt Lake and New York. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois and Columbia University, New York.

Children's Hour Held At Broadway Church

A "Happy Hour" for children of the Sunday school of Broadway Methodist church, South, will be held each morning this week, beginning at 9:30 o'clock at the church. Rev. Maurice M. Johnson, pastor, will be in charge and will be assisted by Mrs. Johnson, and Donald Castlen, junior pastor. The children will be taught Bible study, songs and games. All neighborhood children and those attending the Sunday school are invited to attend the classes. The first class was held this morning.

RETURN FROM VISIT

Judge and Mrs. Harry W. Chase and daughter Margaret of 244 North Verdugo road, returned home last night after spending several days at San Diego with Judge Chase's brother.

DOG DAYS ADVICE GIVEN TO OWNERS

Citizen With Experience Writes On Necessity Of Caring For Pets

Editor The Evening News: There are days and days and there are also dogs and dogs, and every once in a long while the two come together. Then the dog has his day. And that day has come in Glendale.

Some folks have come to think Glendale has something in the air that affects dogs—while others have the idea that the city government does not like dogs and is out to do away with them. Both are wrong in my opinion.

No one who will be fair can say that we do not need dogs. Of course a dog has certain instincts, such as protecting her young. She is often taught to protect property, to care for children and will defend herself. Let any one try to abuse or mistreat her young, her master's property, her owner's baby, or the dog herself, and naturally the dog will resent it. If you insist on going too far the dog will snap and may, as a last resort, bite.

Dog Has Its Rights

There have been some four or five cases within the year when the dog was blamed, but, upon investigation, it was found to be different. One case was a good-sized boy whom the dog resented coming on his master's property while the master was away. The dog growled. Then the boy kicked the dog in the mouth. The dog snapped. So would you.

Another case was when a good-sized boy came on the place to deliver papers while every one was gone. The boy went back, unfastened a garage and started to pick up one of some four or five young puppies. The mother dog did not know the boy, and so at first resented the intrusion by growling, then by snapping, and finally did bite—so would you were your babies molested by a stranger.

Madness Is Rarity

For a dog to go mad is as rare as a hen's having teeth. It seems, however, we always have to have a scare once in a while. Yet take it from one who has had three dogs for years and who lived across the street from a neighbor who had a mad-dog stone, there are only the rarest kinds of cases where a dog actually goes mad and they are mostly in story books.

Keep a tub of water handy where your dog can take a bath when he wants to this hot weather. If he gets sick treat him the same as you would anyone else—consult a doctor—and you will have in your dog a friend, a protector and often a guide who will be better than a human being.

STOCKS — FINANCIAL — MARKETS

SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE GLENDALE EVENING NEWS
International News Service. Consolidated Press Association. Southland News Service.

MARKET SUMMARY

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—A bond issue for the world's largest hotel, to be built in Chicago by Stevens, involving $13,000,000 financing, will be offered local investors this week. Various municipal issues in the Southland, involving upwards of $20,000,000, also will be bid upon.

Attorney E. J. Emmons, Bakersfield, president of the United Mining Co., today revealed that a ten-inch shelf of gold ore assaying $2000 per ton, had been uncovered in Sunshine mine at Randsburg.

The Main Oil Co.'s new gasser near Wasco, in Kern county, has bben brought under control.

Glendale is now getting a large supply of gas from Ventura oilfields, a new pipe line having just been completed.

Burbank, Van Nuys and San Fernando canning plants opened their season today on San Fernando valley fruit.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, June 29.—Reactionary tendencies prevailed today in the stock, grain and foreign exchange markets. Call money rates again advanced to 5 per cent and speculative trading was in smaller volume in all of the principal markets.

Speculative stocks lost most of the sensational features which marked their swift advances to higher price levels in the last two sessions of last week. An unwieldy short interest had been disclosed in a number of the leading industrial stocks, much of which was eliminated in the hectic markets of the week-end. There was therefore less urgent buying of stocks today and the contest which is being waged between powerful professional interests in the stock market was less spectacular in its outward appearance at least.

Firmness in the money market, with the 5 per cent call loan rate, is expected to prevail until the latter part of the week or until the July disbursements for interest and dividends find their way back to the banks. By that time the holiday exodus will be in full swing and speculative interest in the stock market is already beginning to show the effects of the withdrawal of active professional traders from the financial district.

Motors and accessories displayed activity and strength, and made gains in the face of very heavy profit-taking. United States Rubber, Goodrich, Fisk and Kelly-Springfield sold at gains of a point or more. Studebaker was strong all through the session.

Compilation of railroad and industrial earnings made public today were favorable from almost every angle.

Copper stocks were in demand under the stimulus of better earnings for representative companies. Oil shares were consistently active. Woolworth advanced nearly 5 points in brisk trading and reached a new high at 144¾. High-priced industrial, equipment and specialty stocks yielded to selling pressure in the fourth hour and the course of prices was distinctly downward.

Stock sales, 1,502,000 shares; bonds, $9,275,000.

Heavy selling broke out over the whole market in the fourth hour, when call money rate reached 6 per cent for the first time since the end of 1923. Reports of a disastrous earthquake in California resulted in heavy offering of California oil stocks with a 3-point drop in General Petroleum.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Morning Wedding

The marriage of Miss Doris Ardon Barnett of North Eagledale avenue, Eagle Rock, and William Moulton Youngblood of Glendale, took place this morning, Monday, June 29, 1925, at 5:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Barnett. Rev. L. J. Millikan of 669 West Wilson avenue, formerly pastor of Broadway Methodist church, South, performed the ring ceremony. Only immediate relatives attended the wedding. The bride wore a white silk wedding dress and carried a shower bouquet. Miss Esther Robison of Eagle Rock, who was maid of honor, wore a pale blue silk dress. Elbridge M. Kyle of Glendale, was best man. A wedding breakfast was served later, after which Mr. and Mrs. Youngblood left for a honeymoon trip to Catalina. They will make their home in Glendale. Mr. Youngblood is salesman for the Standard Oil Co., and came here recently from Santa Ana.

Sunday Wedding

Miss Pearl Marie Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Ellis of 450 Ivy street, and Hubert Justin Dahlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dahlin of Clam Falls, Wisconsin, were married yesterday morning, Sunday, June 28, at 8 o'clock at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial park, by Rev. G. Nelson Hobson of 433 North Jackson street. Wedding music was played by Miss Almedia Mathews, friend of the bride, from Los Angeles. The bride wore a silk net dress over blue silk. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and baby breath. Miss Neva Philbrook, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore blue crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of pink sweetpeas. J. E. Keats, friend of Mr. Dahlin, was best man. Immediate relatives attended the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Dahlin will make their home at 450 Ivy street.

Attends Luncheon

Mrs. Evelyn G. Pierce of 205 East Maple street, was among the guests entertained late last week at a luncheon given at "The Samovar" in Los Angeles, by May Elroy Johnson. Guests were members of the Daisy Davis club of past worthy high priestess of 1923 of White Shrine of Jerusalem. Mrs. Johnson is a past high priestess of Manetho Shrine, Los Angeles. Daisies were used effectively on the luncheon table. Corsage bouquets were favors. After a brief meeting, presided over by Mrs. Pierce, club president, Mrs. Johnson entertained her guests at the theatre.

Second Birthday

Ruth Marie Goldsmith celebrated her second birthday Saturday afternoon with a party given at the home of her parents, Lieutenant and Mrs. F. O. Goldsmith, 127 West Chestnut street. A group of little friends were invited in to help celebrate the occasion. Refreshments were served late in the afternoon, Mrs. Goldsmith being assisted in serving by Miss Amelia Rolf. Guests were: Alice Jensen, Ruth Elizabeth Huffer, Eleanor Jensen and Dorothy Lee Walker. Lieutenant Goldsmith is on the U. S. S. McCawley and is en route to Bremerton, Wash.

Quiet Wedding

Rev. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of Central Christian church, officiated at the wedding of Miss Frances Dorothy Martin and Floyd R. Powell, both of Burbank, which took place yesterday morning, Sunday, June 28, 1925 at 8:30 o'clock at the Cole residence, 132 South Kenwood street. Richard Martin, brother of the bride, and Mrs. C. A. Cole were witnesses. Mr. and Mrs. Powell will reside in their new home at 805 West Arden avenue, Glendale. Mrs. Powell is employed with a furniture shipping firm in Los Angeles.

Open Mite Boxes

The annual mite box opening of the Foreign Missionary society of First Methodist Episcopal church will be a feature of the all day meeting Thursday at the church. Mrs. T. G. Love, mite box secretary, will have charge of the program, featured by a sketch, "Mrs. Smith's Mite Box." The Aid society will meet at 10:30 o'clock and members will have charge of the luncheon at noon. The Home society meets from 1 to 2 o'clock, the program following the meeting.

♣ ♣ ♣

At Long Beach

There were thirty members and their families of the Stitch and Chatter club of Central Christian church, who attended the picnic outing Saturday at Long Beach. The day was spent informally and in the evening a picnic supper was enjoyed around the campfire. Games were played later.

WORTHINGTON TO RETURN FOR TRIAL

Lower California Governor Orders Extradition To Border At Once

MEXICALI, June 29.—John W. Worthington, "wolf of La Salle street," will not be saved from prison by death.

Worthington, who escaped to Mexico from a Glendale sanitarium, where he was receiving treatments for a general physical breakdown, while under sentence to serve three years in federal prison for using the mails to defraud in a bucketshop scheme, will be extradited to the United States, Mexican officials announced today.

Worthington, reported dying at a hot springs near Ensenada, was said to be much improved today.

Governor Rodriguez declared that if Worthington could possibly stand the effects of the seventy-mile trip from Ensenada to Tia Juana on the international border line he would be deported at once.

The Mexican authorities said they understood Worthington's condition would be such that he could be moved within the next few days at the latest.

PERSONAL NOTES

R. P. Sailor of 814 East Elk street, has moved to 550 West Oak street.

Mrs. Harry B. Ellison of 665 Fairmont avenue, has returned from Fresno, where she took her nephew, Dick Rodman, who has been visiting two weeks.

Members of the Girls' Friendly society, St. Mark's branch, will hold a picnic tonight at Brookside Park, Pasadena. Those planning to go will meet at the Guild hall at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Ettarae Kent, Misses Ethel B. Land, Josephine Chambers, Gladys Sharpe, and J. F. McMasters, of the city schools, and Miss Maud Soper of the Glendale Union High school are registered for summer classes at the University of Southern California.

Miss Beatrice Sasse of Pacific school, left last week for her former home in Idaho for the summer months. Miss Margaret Taylor, also of Pacific school, has taken up a summer course at the University of California, Southern Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Rinker and family of 1104 East Harvard street, were dinner guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. Mentzer Whitehead of Huntington park. Mrs. Rinker was formerly Mrs. Lora Ecklebarger.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Bradbury of 429 Lincoln street, left Saturday afternoon for the mountains east of Little Rock, where they will spend a few days. They are planning to build a cabin on their property there.

Miss Daisy Damm of Chicago arrived in Glendale recently to spend several weeks visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Bach of 905 South Verdugo road. Miss Damm is the daughter of F. C. Damm, well-known in typographical affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Bach of 905 South Verdugo road, with their niece, Miss Daisy Damm, of Chicago, spent yesterday at Laguna Beach, where they joined a party of twenty-five friends for a picnic.

Mrs. C. E. Lewis of Miami, Fla., arrived recently to spend a year with her sister, Mrs. Mabel Moore of 333 West Lexington drive. Mrs. Lewis is a well-known business woman at Miami and has arranged her business so that she may stay away for a year.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bear, who are residing in the W. S. Bear home at 220 North Central avenue, returned Saturday from a trip to Yucaipa, where they went to look after property interests. Mrs. Jane Sturgis, mother of Mrs. Bear, and Misses Margaret and Frances Elkins, nieces of Mrs. Bear, arrived Saturday from Riverside to visit in the Bear home for a week.

Glendale friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bear of 220 North Central avenue, will be interested to learn that they are now visiting in New York and will start home July 15 via the northern route. They made the trip east by automobile and were accompanied by Mrs. Bear's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gordon, who returned to their home at Vevay, Ind. The Bears will not return for two months.

Building Permits For Ten Residences Today

Permits to construct ten modern residences on Idlewood road, to cost $11,500 each, a total of $115,000, will be issued today to O'Neal & Son, Los Angeles, contractors for E. K. Manning of Glendale, by Building Superintendent H. C. Vandewater. Construction work will start immediately.

Total building for the month to date will be increased to $721,538 by the permits, and for the year to $4,396,482.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, June 29.—A delightful program awarded those who attended the box supper party given by the Verdugo Hills post of the American Legion at Sparr Heights Community house on Saturday night. Graham and Mercer of Pasadena were pleasing in steel guitar numbers. The Misses Stark, also of Pasadena, were well received in the vocal duets. Dressed a la Harry Lauder George Hansen kept the audience rolling in laughter with his Scotch stories followed by his bagpipe playing, the bagpipe being a tin whistle with balloons attached. In singing "Roamin' in the Gloamin'," and "It's Nice to Get Up In the Mornin'," Mac Hansen was accompanied by Mrs. A. E. Baron. The audience joined him in the singing of the chorus of the two songs.

Mildred Maranville's dancing was if anything more beautiful than those done by her before and was entirely new to her audience, being a whirlwind Russian dance. Mildred is a pupil of the Keller school of Glendale. Not to be outdone by Mac Hansen, Don Urquhart of the Verdugo Hills post also told Scotch stories. Richard Troutner, chairman of the affair, gave the topsy turvy "Scene In the Courtroom." A delightful number was that given by the trio composed of Mrs. A. E. Baron, piano; A. E. Baron, violin, and D. Castor on the trombone. "The End of a Perfect Day" was followed by "Moonlight and Roses."

As there were so few present the dinner boxes were not auctioned off but the contents spread on the tables and a general dinner party held. The post furnished the punch. Dancing was enjoyed after dinner, Mrs. A. F. Hopkins and the trio furnishing the music.

Ten tables were filled at the delightful bridge tea given by Mrs. A. Cobb of Los Angeles to the members of the La Crescenta Women's club on Saturday afternoon. This was the first social affair to be held in the delightful new home. The rooms were beautiful with masses of flowers. The tea table was heavily decorated in baskets of roses. Assisting the hostess were Mesdames J. S. Conlin, A. W. Brown, Thomas Minford and Harvey Bissell. Mrs. Charles M. Turck and Mrs. E. N. Nettleton poured. Mrs. Cobb turned the proceeds of the affair over to the building fund.

Mrs. F. S. Card, chairman of the ways and means committee of the La Crescenta Women's club, announces the first dance to be given by her committee on Tuesday night, June 30. This will be the formal opening of the clubhouse to the public. Floyd's Sciot orchestra will furnish the music. Guests will be taken over the clubhouse for a visit of inspection. Tickets will be the usual 50 cents. No extra charge will be made for refreshments.

MONTROSE

MONTROSE, June 29.—Notice has been given that commencing July 1 the valley branch of the Los Angeles county free library will be open on Tuesday and Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights from 7 to 9 o'clock. The library will be closed on Wednesday, July 1, but open Thursday, July 2, from 7 to 9 o'clock. The library will not be open on any legal holiday, neither will such days be made up as they have heretofore. The library is in the stone building at the corner of Los Angeles and Montrose avenues and is for the use of all valley residents.

The new ways and means committee of the La Crescenta Women's club will open the clubhouse formally to the public on Tuesday June 30, with a dance. The affair is being looked forward to by everyone as the Women's club has not, with the exception of the barn dance, had a dance in some time. The newly appointed chairman of the ways and means committee is Mrs. F. S. Card who has selected the following to assist her throughout the year: Mesdames Rose Nettleton, Harvey Bissell, H. Davenport, Tom Benitto, Elizabeth Wattell, Virginia Tiellery, Harry Fowler and E. W. Brooks.

Mrs. C. Campbell, teacher of pianoforte, presented her pupils in recital last night at her studio on Waltonia drive. The following pupils appeared on the program: Ethel Hunt, Keith Young, Laura Sheldon, Evelyn Adkins, Doris Sheldon, Eunice Peterson, Doris Rose, Fern McGrew and Viola McGrew.

CHINESE MENACE PASTOR'S SERMON

Sleeping Giant May Arise Says Grand View Pastor In Sunday Address

"Christ and Anti-Christ in China," was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning at Grand View Community church by Rev. George W. Thomas, pastor. Rev. Thomas said:

"Napoleon said 'China is a sleeping giant. Let him sleep.' But the nations and the time and the mighty forces of change have broken the slumbers of that giant so that he cannot rest. Now he is wakening and in a dangerous mood, getting up on the wrong side of the bed in this new day of marvels and motion.

"'I have seen all the world and observed two continents carefully for the last fifty years,' said a great missionary bishop from Africa who died recently after fifty years of field service, 'But I tell you that other developments are insignificant compared with what is going to happen in China during the next quarter of a century.' The bishop knew what he was talking about, and so did Napoleon. One was a military genius; the other a masterful general of spiritual forces. They knew that when 437,000,000 human beings get into motion, either in chaos or in order, tremendous things are bound to happen.

Millions Are Mad

"The bishop knew what Napoleon did not, that back of China lies India with 230,000,000, Russia with 180,000,000, the Near East with its strange melange of 200,000,000 dominated by the Turk and the Arab under the Crescent of Mohammed. He knew what we are seeing today more and more plainly, that here dwell two thirds of the human race, the Christless two thirds, now seething with a strange, hunger bitten madness from the Yellow Seas to the Mediterranean, and from the Arctic circle to the Indian ocean. Back of China's turmoil lies that of Russian Bolshevism, and the surge of the yellow and the brown and the black against the white.

"The destiny of two thirds of the human race, and two thirds of the destiny of the human race, which may or may not mean the same thing, is being fused in a seething caldron of raging passions and burning purposes. That is what is beginning to happen in China. Who can say what the next quarter of a century will bring in the tremendous swiftness of the age in which we live? Who shall determine destiny, Christ or Anti-Christ?

Embodiment of Spirit

"Every age has its own manifestations, and embodiments of the spirit of Christ and of Anti-Christ in world affairs. The embodiment of the Spirit of Christ in world affairs is the world wide spread of the gospel in Christian missions, the world wide living of the gospel in evangelism, healing, and education by the missionaries of the cross. Thousands of them have given their lives and their blood to the cause. Of the thousands we now have in China, men and women whose equal we can not keep at home because they hear the hunger call of the world, many may be called upon to shed their blood and seal their lives with martyrdom.

"They and the backing we give them and the justice of America in dealing with other peoples, are the hope of the world. If we can but throw in enough of this golden fusing, the caldron of China may not boil over and set the world on fire. Let us pray and work with England and Japan, especially, for they in spite of their past misdeeds are sincerely and honestly trying to save China. The Church must go to its knees and agonize. Only Christ can empower salvation, and we know it. Let us pray.

Russian Anti-Christ

"The great manifestation of the spirit of Anti-Christ today is in Russian Bolshevism which has at last found an outlet for its poisons. Almost succeeded in Europe. Not quite. It is succeeding in Asia. It is capitalizing old injustices and race hatreds, ignorance, superstition, greed, and blood lust to set China on fire and through China two thirds of the race against Christ and all that we hold dear in humanity.

"Its power is unthinkable, and were it not for the God who holds the world in the hollow of His almighty hands, we could not think without despair. But if we do not fail Him, He will not fail us. Christ, who is our peace, shall break down the middle wall of partition and blend all into one in Himself. The victorious Son of God summons His armies of light and love and righteousness to a victory sublime in China for the world."

SUPPER PARABLE IS SERMON TOPIC

St. Mark's Rector Preaches On Applying Story To Life By Christ

Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, preached yesterday on the subject, "The Parable of the Great Supper."

Rev. Kemp said: "Some one had uttered an exclamation of joy over the success of those who would ultimately be saved by enjoying the privilege of eating in the kingdom, and Jesus immediately turned around and gave it a very practical application in the parable of the Great Supper. You may remember that He did the same thing when some one at an earlier time gave utterance to joy over Mary's good fortune in having given birth to such as He. Jesus replied that they rather are blessed who hear the word of God and do it.

"So in this instance He does not leave an indefinite impression about those who may enter the kingdom. Admission is based upon merit. All our lives we are registering decisions consciously or unconsciously as we accept or reject Christ's invitation to the great dinner.

Truth Was Rejected

"The parable is a beautiful illustration of the relation not only of the Jews during the long period of their history, and of them during the lifetime of Jesus, but also of the attitude of many people today to the kingdom. A certain man made a feast and bade many, and when it was ready he sent to summon them, but they all began to make excuses for not coming. This is a parallel to the facts of history and reminds us of the way God's truth has been rejected time after time. Prophets and teachers came, telling of God and His commandments, and finally Jesus came Himself, but there was always excuses for the rejection, such as we have here in the parable.

"They are very similar to those we hear today for non-attendance at church services. We can think of them representing the excuse of worldly possessions, business preoccupation or social ties. The shallowness of these excuses is seen when we realize that no sacrifice is too great to make when we are really interested. Jesus knew this when He said that 'he who does not leave all and follow me is not worthy of me.' Nothing should take precedence over the work of God. When this invitation is rejected the Master of the House sends for those who would appreciate it.

Kingdom for Hungry

"Jesus came to minister to the sick and needy, and so the next guests invited are those who are hungry for the hospitality of God. Jesus has told us that the kingdom is for the hungry, and not for the full. There is always room in His father's house for those who are hungering for His love. God yearns to help those whom the world passes by. Christ loves to help the failures of the world, for He knows each one has the germ of success deep down in his soul. To some it has ever been a reproach upon Christianity that we seek the weak, and not the strong.

"Jesus ever sought those who needed another chance. Then there is another class that Jesus seeks which are symbolized by the third class of guests. The servant is sent out after those in the highways and hedges and compel them to come in. This is not a justification for intolerance, as it has sometimes been used, but to compel and strengthen a wavering faith. Jesus came to give the fearful and incredulous the strength that comes from God. They have not known the power of faith and of the love of God. God will not compel indifference, but He will honest incredulity. Those who are represented by a large class in the world who feel wrongly that there is no place in the church for them. They are hungering after God, yet do not understand the language of theology.

"Jesus Christ is ever calling us into His kingdom, yet He has little sympathy for the indifferent. He will do much for the hungry and incredulous, but the others have had their chance and have rejected it. Jesus is always welcoming the seekers after God, and to such the mission of the church is always directed."

GOD'S POWER IS SOURCE OF PEACE

Congregational Minister In Talk On Using Physical Manifestations

"God's Power" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning by Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of First Congregational church.

Rev. Calderwood said: "We are absolutely dependent upon the power of God for the salvation of our souls and so we should consider that power. Without that power there is neither peace nor hope. We cannot be saved if God is not able to save us. Paul was conscious of that power for he had been saved by it. He had used that power in his great work in Asia and Europe. Paul did not argue about the power of God for he knew it. In writing to the Ephesians he said, 'Now unto him who is able to do exceeding abundantly, according to the power that worketh in us.' He called that power an exceeding abundant power.

"We recognize and utilize God's physical power. Tides, gravitation, electricity, wind, water we have made our agents. How could we live without these? We are absolutely dependent upon them. We are weak as compared to God. 'Who hath measured the waters in the hollow of his hand? Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are accounted as the small dust of the balance. He taketh up the isles as a very little thing.'

Deepest of Desires

"We use the power of God in solving our problems of the physical world. But we have other desires than these. How can we attain to spiritual heights? How can love and peace and righteousness be established upon the earth? How can we live the life of Jesus? How can we battle successfully the enemies of the soul? These are our deepest desires. God's greatest power is spiritual. Why not use that? We are helpless without God. The only place that we can get this strength that we need is from God. 'He brought me up also out of an horrible pit and set my feet upon a rock. He hath put a new song in my mouth.' Trouble comes to us frequently but 'God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.'

"This is the great contribution that the Bible makes to life. It is a supreme revelation of the power of God. From the story of the physical and spiritual power in the world's creation clear down through to the Revelation of St. John, it is a constant story of God's power.

"The secret of strength is to know and to use God's power. It is at our disposal. There are great tasks about us and ahead of us. Who is equal in his own strength for these tasks? Is there any reason for our sadness, despair, folly, weakness and sin? God is still in His heavens. After twenty centuries we should learn to say with St. Paul, 'I can do all things in Him that strengtheneth me.' The strength of Christ is that of God. Let us reach up to God and walk with Christ."

DEVIL IS REALITY ASSERTS SPEAKER

'His Satanic Majesty' Basis Of Address By Lutheran Pastor On Sunday

Speaking on the subject of "His Satanic Majesty," based on the epistle letter for the third Sunday after Trinity, Dr. H. C. Funk, pastor of First Lutheran church, said:

"His satanic majesty does not go around as he used to do, with horns and hoofs, and forked tail, breathing brimstone and fire from his nostrils. No, he goes around like a very refined gentleman now; with eye-glasses on his nose, an encyclopedia under his arm and learned lingo on his tongue.

"He does not come out boldly and deny that there is a God, but shakes his sapient old head, shrugs his shoulders, and declares that he does not know whether there is a God or not, and suspects that no one else really knows. He does not deny that the Bible is of divine origin; but suggests that while there is much truth in it, allowance must be made for the 'errancy' of the human element, and for the fact that it was written when the faculties of men were beclouded with superstition and ignorance; and in their so-called superior knowledge these learned dupes of the devil look down on you and me with contempt for our simple, childlike faith in God and the supernatural.

"In answer to the question, 'How many devils are there?' we learn that seven devils were cast out of one woman. That is a good many, but the same chapter tells about a man that had more than that, for he had a legion. Strictly speaking, however, there is one devil, but many demons or evil spirits.

Satan Has Being

"Some of these learned men tell us that there is no real devil; but Peter in our lesson teaches us that satan is a real personal being: 'Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour.' Satan is the tempter; he bribes some with profit, while he beguiles others with pleasure, glitter and glare. He is a slanderer, a gossipmonger, a seducer; he is a liar and the father of all evil.

"One of the biggest lies satan has ever invented is the one by which he persuades men that they must give up all the pleasures of life, and spend their days in mourning in order to become Christians. But the truth is that it does not make a man gloomy to be a true Christian. Let me ask, when a man who has been sentenced to be executed learns that a pardon has been granted by the governor, does it make him gloomy? Certainly not. It is the need of Christ that makes a man gloomy. A man who is dying for a drink of water is given a cool refreshing drink; does it make him gloomy? No, no. But what water is to the thirsty man Christ is to the thirsty soul.

No Slavish Fear

"Luther's test of a Christian teacher was: 'Does he believe in death and the devil, or is he all joy and pleasure?' Yet Luther had no slavish fear of the devil. On one occasion he said: 'I heard some one walking on the floor above my head but I knew that it was only the devil, I went quietly to sleep.' As we have said, satan does not always appear in the form of a devil for he has the power to transform himself even into an angel of light.

"Although he is the prince of this world he does not have absolute control over it, for his power is limited. Indeed, the devil sometimes goes to church, but cannot rule there because Christ cast out the devil and his angels with him. Yes, satan was a fallen angel, once an inhabitant of heaven, and the gates of hell cannot prevail against the church because Christ rules His church in heaven and on earth."

Southern California Is Facing Bright Outlook

A bright outlook for Southern California business already far ahead of the east on the road to recovery after a slow winter, was pictured today by S. J. Mills, furrier of 133 South Brand boulevard, upon his return from a middle western buying tour. Chicago, Omaha and Sioux City are not getting back to normal as rapidly as Southern California, he declared. Glendale is enjoying better business conditions than probably any other Southern California city or town, he said.

Commercial and financial conditions in the middle west, although considered to be good and getting better, are not to be compared with here, Mills said. He had a good opportunity to judge conditions as they really exist in both sections during his buying tour, he said.

The weather was bad on his eastern trip. In Iowa he ran into two tornadoes, in Chicago the thermometer registered 97 degrees for three days straight, on the way from Iowa to Chicago the trains were stalled by a fierce hail storm and delayed nearly twenty hours. Mills left Glendale May 29.

Sixth Sense Of David Touched On By Pastor

"Can Sin Be Made a Benefit?" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning by Rev. A. W. Frodsham, pastor of Bethel Chapel, 633 East Colorado street. Rev. Frodsham said in part:

"Though I shall quote from David and Paul this morning, I shall also quote from the old Puritan divine of the seventeenth century, Thomas Goodwin, who doubtless quoted from Luther, who, as we all know, quoted freely from Paul, the latter being his favorite apostle.

"'Our sinfulness kept ever before us creates and exercises in us the sixth sense.' David, said Luther, had a sixth sense. We have five senses: seeing, hearing, touching, smelling and tasting. David had a sixth sense, and had sin for its object. So, today our sense of sin acts exactly like the sense of seeing, hearing and tasting. The one who sees his sin ever before him and the one who forgives him, will make him love much.

"Those to whom little is forgiven love little, but those to whom much is forgiven love much. Sin, failure and defeat, are some of the 'all things' that are working together for our eternal good. The devil generally oversteps the mark. Calvary was his masterpiece, but God's plan to bring salvation to mankind."
